$96,000 ROAD JOB TO START NEAR MORRAL

Highway Department and WPA To Rebuild Part of Route 231.

[illegible] expected to start soon, [illegible] week, on a $95,000 [illegible] improvement of State Route 231 from Morral east and northeast to the Wyandot county line.

The announcement was made today by J. P. Shumaker of Delaware, engineer for state highway division No. 6.

The project, financed jointly by the WPA, which is to furnish $68,-000, and the state highway department, which is to furnish the remainder, will last about six months.

It is set up to provide work for [illegible] men for that period, E. J. Nesper, former Marion man now at the Delaware highway office, said. The men will be from Marion county's WPA rolls and will be largely in addition to the 260 WPA workers now being used by the state highway department on the Green Camp road project, he said.

To Widen Road

The Morral road project will include widening the road to 20 feet and establishment of a full 60-foot right of way, with wider and better shoulders. The road is now 14 to 16 feet wide and many farm fences are located within the 60-foot right of way. The first step will be to clear the right of way, Mr. Nesper said.

The road will be paved with water-bound macadam for the present and then will be surface treated in the fall. The roadside ditches will be improved and culverts extended.

One of the features of the project also will be removal of a traffic hazard caused by a deep ditch just east of Morral. The ditches will be removed 10 or 15 feet farther away on both sides of the road. A new bridge will be constructed there also.

4-Mile Improvement

The improvement will extend from the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad crossing in Morral, east to the intersection of Route 23 at Brush Ridge and then northeast to the Wyandot county line. The road ultimately leads to Nevada and points north.

The length in all is slightly over four miles.

Among other things, the work will include moving of 16,000 cubic yards of excavation and construction of approximately 19,-600 square yards of pavement.

Meanwhile, the Green Camp road project, which is of a similar nature, is continuing and probably will last until late summer, Mr. Nesper said. The work started several months ago at the Marion-Union county line and has been proceeding this way.

Among work remaining to be done is construction of three bridges, one at Green Camp and two between Green Camp and Marion, all of concrete.

COUNCIL MAY ACT ON RELIEF PLAN TONIGHT

Proposal To Finance Part of Needs To Be Discussed.

City council may have up for consideration tonight at its regular meeting in city hall a temporary plan of relief financing, Mayor Snare announced today. The plan, which is designed to enable the city to pay about 40 per cent of its relief bills until an adequate method of financing is worked out, involves appropriation of about $50,000 in anticipation of receiving state relief matching funds.

Action by council may be delayed, however, until after a conference between the mayor and state welfare department officials tomorrow morning in Columbus.

Council will also consider other matters tonight, including transfer of a property at Pennsylvania avenue and Church street from the residential to the commercial zone.

Story of a Lovable Rebel

The heroine of The Star's Leap Year serial story is the impulsive [illegible] of the very proper [illegible] family. "Will you never learn to look before you leap?" was the question put to her by her Aunt Hannah. She turns a deaf ear to this admonition and walks into plenty of trouble, caught between the attentions of two men striving to win her love. Finally she discovers the treachery of one of these men and finds the other loyal and true. "Leap Before You Look" is a gripping story which will hold your interest to the end.

ELKS PLAN TO HONOR HARDING

Arrange To Make June 9 Event Here a National Pilgrimage.

Inaugural plans for a national pilgrimage to Harding Memorial by Elks lodges were made yesterday when lodge representatives of the north central district of Ohio convened at Bucyrus.

The pilgrimage, to be held Sunday, June 9, will honor the memory of Warren G. Harding, who was active as a member of Marion Lodge No. 32, B. P. O. Elks, before becoming president.

The affair, originally intended as a statewide event, has been broadened to become national in scope. An estimated 15,000 members of the order, including representatives of 84 Ohio lodges, and others from nearby states, are expected to take part.

Dignitaries Expected

Harry Warner of Dixon, Ill., grand exalted ruler, state officers and other high fraternal dignitaries are among those expected to attend. Invitations also will be sent to other nationally prominent persons, including President Roosevelt and Postmaster General James Farley.

T. A. O'Leary of Marion was named chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements at yesterday's district meeting. Serving with him is a roster of 13 men, representing lodges in the north central section of Ohio.

Parade Planned

Details for the program have not been completed but a huge parade, composed of bands and marching units from the various lodges, will be staged. Ceremonies will be held at the Harding Memorial.

Chairman O'Leary will meet with members of the district committee here March 17 to discuss further plans.

JAILED BECAUSE OF DOG

Man Held 8 Days Freed After Paying Balance of Fine.

Cletus Miller, of near Caledonia was released from county jail Sunday night upon payment of the balance of a fine, imposed last November when he was found guilty before Justice of Peace Burson at Caledonia on a charge of harboring an unlicensed dog.

Miller was fined $20 and costs of $11.20 and was released on an agreement to pay the assessment at the rate of $2 monthly. Officials reported. He was committed to county jail a week ago, Feb. 17, for non-payment of the fine. After serving eight days he paid the remaining $17.70, and was released, Sheriff Fred F. Miller reported. The original charge against Miller was filed by County Dog Warden Elmer Ullom.

NAZI PLANE BATTLES NETHERLANDS CRAFT

By The Associated Press

THE HAGUE, NETHERLANDS, Feb. 26—Netherlands government officials prepared a strong protest to Germany today after a German airplane was reported to have engaged a Netherlands plane over the province of Noord Brabant. The German plane escaped southward over Belgium.

A government communique said another protest would be made against a territorial violation by a second Nazi plane near Woudenberg, east of Utrecht. It was driven off by anti-aircraft fire.

A. & P. MARKET BURNS

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 26—Paper and cellophane sacks fed a fire which razed a large, downtown store of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. yesterday with estimated loss of $60,000. Company officials, who estimated damage, said the market was the grocery chain's largest in Ohio. The blaze started in a frame rubbish shed adjoining the building. Firemen Leo Dwyer, 36, and Wesley Webb, 38, were injured slightly by falling wood.

Countywide Relief Canvass To Be Started Tuesday

Preliminary work on an intensive survey of the relief cases in Marion city and county, which will get under way tomorrow, was nearing completion today. Notices were mailed out this morning to relief clients advising them what time to expect investigators to appear in their homes, Relief Director Frank S. Burns said.

The investigators, five in all, will start their home interviews and inspections tomorrow and are not expected to finish for four weeks or so.

The previously announced plan of calling the relief clients into headquarters for interviewing has been abandoned in favor of sending the investigators directly into the homes. Mr. Burns pointed out this will make it possible for the investigator to make his home inspection and take the client's application at the same time.

All persons now on relief must fill out new applications. The new applications, containing six pages for urban residents and seven for rural residents, must also be filled out by persons going on relief in the future. Mr. Burns estimates it will require about 45 minutes to take an application.

The survey or investigation will be a continuous activity of the relief department, with each case being reexamined every three months.

Mr. Burns has described it as one of the most thorough investigation ever carried on here. He is unable to estimate how many persons will be dropped as a result of the survey, but expects a substantial reduction.

The five investigators, who have all been assigned to city cases, are A. F. Green, Frank Cahill, Karl Lundquist, Zenas Kinney and Robert Sweney.

4th Member Of Koon Family Held on Slaying Charge

The fourth member of the Koons family of Athens county to be involved in a slaying case was held in the jail at Nelsonville today pending investigation of the death of a 60-year-old Doanville man, The Associated Press reported.

He is Massie Koon, 26, nephew of Everett Koon, who was executed 11 years ago for slaying Henry Foos, aged Marion county farmer. Massie is the brother of James Koon, 21, who is serving a life sentence in Ohio penitentiary for killing Levi Laudermilk, 60, at Doanville in 1938.

The first of the family known to be accused in a killing was Isaiah Koon, grandfather of Massie and James and father of Everett, who was convicted in 1908 of killing a Doanville saloon keeper.

In the latest case, Sheriff Charles Bayless of Athens county reported Massie struck Hiram Robinette, 60, on the head with the butt end of a shotgun in a fight at Koon's home yesterday.

In both this case and in the slaying of Mr. Foos at his farm home two miles north of Marion the victims were beaten to death.

RALLY TONIGHT ENDS CAMPAIGN

Democrats of 17th District To Hold Meetings at Delaware, Mt. Vernon.

Meetings at Delaware and Mt. Vernon and two radio addresses tonight will mark the close of the campaign leading to tomorrow's special election in the Seventeenth congressional district.

Byron B. Ashbrook, Democratic candidate, will give radio talks at Mansfield and at Columbus and at Delaware and Mt. Vernon party leaders will support his candidacy at rallies.

J. Harry McGregor, his Republican opponent, has already finished his campaign.

Six Counties in District

Voters in six counties, Delaware, Knox, Licking, Richland, Coshocton and Ashland, will take part in tomorrow's election. Tomorrow also will bring a special election in the Twenty-second congressional district.

Predictions of victory from both sides and a request for election observers prefaced the elections.

In the 17th district where Democratic leaders have declared that a vote for Ashbrook was a vote for the New Deal, Ashbrook said he expected to "roll up a majority of four or five thousand."

His opponent, McGregor, was viewed as a winner by Republican State Chairman Ed D. Schorr who said the election would stimulate Republican morale throughout the nation and "will be a severe blow to New Dealers and the third term ambitions of the President."

Seek Vacated Post

Ashbrook and McGregor are seeking the post left vacant by the death of Ashbrook's uncle, William A. Ashbrook, Democrat.

In the Twenty-second district, Mrs. Frances P. Bolton, Republican, seeks to succeed her husband, the late Chester C. Bolton, and become Ohio's first congresswoman. Running in a populous district normally Republican, she is opposed by former Rep. Anthony A. Fleger, Democrat who is supported by several old age pension groups.

It was Ashbrook who asked Secretary of State Earl Griffith to place "watchers" in each of the six county election board offices in the 17th district to guard against manipulation of vote counting. He also urged "close supervision" over the election to prevent "efforts to intimidate public employes."

Griffith declared today there was "no necessity" for observers, but said "this office will exercise its usual careful scrutiny of the balloting."

He suggested that if Ashbrook desired he could avail himself of the right to put a "challenger" in every precinct booth.

Denying accusations by Democratic leaders that he had directed state employes to support McGregor, Schorr said he had advised employes of all political faiths not to be "intimidated" by "New Deal emissaries" from Washington.

State Highway Director Robert S. Beightler said that he "wanted" all employes to vote tomorrow but added "they must make up any time lost while going to the polls." Democratic leaders charged recently that Schorr ordered highway department employes in the 17th district actively to support McGregor.

Davey Raps Bricker

At Ashland Saturday night Davey, who has not yet decided whether to seek a third term, renewed his criticism of Gov. Bricker, Republican, who called the special elections.

Davey said McGregor, majority floor leader in the Ohio house of representatives, was Bricker's "errand boy."

Mrs. Bolton made only one campaign speech, declaring "we intend to reestablish freedom and the American system." Fleger opposed American entry into a foreign war and advocated retention of the wage-hour law, collective

Finns Admit Western End Of Mannerheim Line Lost

Helsinki Reports Strategic Koivisto Islands Fall Under Terrific Pressure of Russian Attack.

By The Associated Press

HELSINKI, Feb. 26—The Finnish high command today acknowledged that Finland had surrendered to invading Russians the strategic islands of Koivisto, armed with great coastal batteries anchoring the western end of the Mannerheim line.

These islands, situated off the town of Koivisto, are 20 miles south of Viipuri, lying in the Gulf of Finland near the entrance to Viipuri bay.

(Possession of the islands presumably would give the Russians a new advantage in their drive on Viipuri, normally Finland's third largest city, by aiding an attack from the sea as well as from land.)

Russian land forces already have driven on the isthmus itself up a railway toward Viipuri as far as Kaislahti, only 7½ miles due south of Viipuri, according to the Finns' own admission. The Russians apparently are cleaning up the area between the railway and the coast.

"On the isthmus our troops have given up the Koivisto islands," said today's daily army communique. "On Feb. 25 the enemy continued his attacks on the western part of the isthmus. The attacks were checked by fire from our artillery and infantry, and the enemy suffered heavy loss in men."

Line Quiet in East

At one town in this region, Selmenkaila, "enemy attacks were repulsed after fighting which lasted a whole day," the communique stated.

The Finns said that the day "passed quietly at the eastern end of the Mannerheim line, where the Russians last week launched great attacks.

At Kuhmo, northward near Finland's "waist," the Finns captured a "strong point," and "destroyed" a company of Russians, said the communique.

The Finns said that their air force had carried out bombing attacks behind the Russian lines "during which a number of successful air fights were engaged in by us." Five Russian planes were reported shot down.

In their withdrawals on the isthmus, where they have now taken a stand at their second positions of defense, the Finns continue to point out that they have done so strategically and only at great cost to the Russians. They point out that the second line positions are stronger than those of the abandoned first line.

One foreign military observer estimates that it has cost the Red army 100,000 men to reach their present position of threatening Viipuri.

4,000 Reds Killed Daily

This observer says that 4,000 Red soldiers killed has been the average price exacted daily for the gains that have carried Russia's hammer-an-sickle banner, since the start of the big push Feb. 1, to a point within a few miles of Viipuri.

Finland's aggregate loss has not been disclosed.

The Red army has exerted the greatest pressure on the western extremity of the Karelian isthmus

ANTHONY J. MARESH

Plans were completed today for an address at 8 o'clock tonight at the Y. M. C. A. by Anthony J. (Tony) Maresh of Cleveland, authority on the life of Lincoln. The address, sponsored by the Marion Hobby club, will be given at a club meeting and will be open to the public without charge.

After his talk, Mr. Maresh will invite questions from the audience.

Mr. Maresh, a music dealer by profession, has made a hobby of Lincoln for 44 years and now has a small museum in the rear of his store, containing hundreds of items. Among the most valued are Lincoln's pocketbook, carried by him at the time of his debates with Douglas, the Volk mask of Lincoln, a Lincoln rocking chair, his copy of Aesop's fables, a shoe from Lincoln's horse "Old Bob", Lincoln furniture and many other articles.

Mr. Maresh has visited every place where Lincoln ever lived. He passes on his knowledge of the president to schools, clubs and radio audiences.

Recently he was presented with a diploma of honor by the Lincoln Memorial university in recognition of his work. Raymond Massie, Lincoln actor, also recently won this award.

"G. W. T. W." Scores Hit with Large Opening Crowd; on Through Friday

1,400 See Opening Performance at Palace; Members of Audience Praise Film Masterpiece.

By HALLIE HOUCK

"Gone With the Wind," the motion picture industry's masterpiece, came to the Palace theater Saturday for a week's engagement. It will be given its sixth showing tonight.

This technicolor triumph is as nearly a perfect production as all the art, technical skill and money of the nation's No. 1 medium of entertainment ever produced for its patrons.

An audience estimated at 1,400 sat enthralled at the opening Saturday afternoon. At least that many more persons had seen it by last night.

"Wonderful" was the adjective most used by patrons as they emerged from the theater. "Marvelous" ran a close second. The picture's beauty, narrative power, sweep and lavishness left patrons with those two words the first they could command at the moment. One young woman, a teacher in the Marion schools, said she felt she should see the picture again to catch many of the details which make the film such a perfect document of life in the south in the '60's.

Audience Reaction Good

Audience reaction on the whole has been "very fine," Manager George E. Planck said yesterday.

Box office reservations show that the audiences so far have included men, women and children from Mansfield, Ada, Morral, Bucyrus, Radnor, Galion, Delaware, Marysville, Green Camp and Prospect, to mention a few communities. Many more patrons from other communities were in the week-end audiences but they drove into Marion and bought tickets at the box office, leaving no record of their residence on which to base the drawing power of the production.

Plenty of choice seats remain for all the matinee and night shows through Friday. The advance sale has been good, but because of the size of the Palace theater there are many seats remaining for all shows, Mr. Planck said. Seats will not be reserved for the Thursday and Friday morning shows at 10.

Theater Equipment Superior

Something for Marion residents to be proud of is the reaction of theater men who have dropped into the Palace while the picture is being screened, Mr. Planck said. Several have told the management that it is hardly the same picture they saw in Cincinnati, Columbus and other larger Ohio cities, because of the Palace's new projection equipment that brings forth all the depth of the color and the new sound equipment brings to audiences every slightest gradation of tone originally produced.

Extra ushers are on hand for every performance to facilitate the seating of patrons—it would be interesting to have pedometer readings on their travels back and forth in the aisles this week—and two and sometimes three persons are in the boxoffice to handle the ticket sale.

Early Arrival Urged

For patrons' own comfort they should be at the theater at least a half hour before the picture starts. It is impossible for the ushers, working at top efficiency, to seat everyone in the last 15 minutes before show time. Saturday afternoon too many people waited until 1:45 to arrive at the theater, with the result that there was a jam in the inner lobby and it was 2:15 when the show started.

Saturday wasn't the first time "G. W. T. W." was screened in Marion. It was "run off" after the last show last Wednesday night, for timing purposes only. The only persons in the "audience" were the manager and those employes who wished to see it. The assistant manager admitted that he was too tired with all the preliminary work, of bringing the picture to Marion to stay and see the test run.

Accurate Presentation

Filming Margaret Mitchell's novel cost in round figures $3,-957,000. The picture is, without doubt, the most faithful reproduction of a novel ever made. To have tampered with the story would have created a national crisis, no less, among the millions of readers.

Nearly four hours—three hours and 47 minutes to be exact, including a 10-minute intermission pass as quickly as the ordinary screen program, so magnificently produced and projected is this story of the passing of this country's age of knighthood.

TRAIN BARS TRAFFIC, CONDUCTOR IN COURT

Police Report Busy Streets Blocked 17 Minutes.

C. H. Winfield of 286 Summit street, an Erie railroad train conductor, was arrested by police Saturday night after a freight train of which he was in charge allegedly blocked crossings in the uptown business district 17 minutes.

Mr. Winfield was released on his own recognizance to appear later if charges are filed but City Solicitor Kenneth A. Robinson said today that charges probably will not be filed.

Mr. Robinson reported that he is planning to confer with railroad officials in an attempt to "find out why trains have been blocking uptown crossings on several occasions recently."

"We're more interested in working out the problem with railroad officials and relieving the traffic situation than we are in collecting a small fine," he said.

Capt. Ora DeWees and Patrolman Lewis Cunningham who made the arrest said the freight train blocked heavy Saturday night traffic at crossings at Main, Prospect and Oak streets.

The officers reported they started their investigation at 8:32 p. m. after receiving several complaints and that they timed the train from 8:38 until it got under way at 8:55 o'clock, a period of 17 minutes. Mr. Winfield was arrested because, as conductor, he technically was in charge of the train, they said.

Officials said today that a city ordinance limits blocking of crossings to five minutes except in case of an emergency and that a state utilities commission rule limits crossing blocking to 15 minutes.

VISIT ATTRACTS WIDE INTEREST

U. S. Envoy Spends Hour with Il Duce After Long Talk with Ciano.

By The Associated Press

ROME, Feb. 26—Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles spent an hour with Premier Mussolini today going over the European problems which Welles came to investigate for President Roosevelt.

The length of their conversation, as well as the hour and a quarter which the American envoy spent this morning with Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, heightened diplomatic interest in his European trip which is to include visits to Berlin, Paris and London.

Ciano had given his father-in-law a preparatory report on his talk with Welles.

The meeting between Il duce and Welles was arranged quickly, the American having arrived in Italy only yesterday.

Goes To London Next

Welles is expected to proceed from here directly to Berlin, where he will be received by Fuehrer Hitler, in a day or two. There was a possibility he would visit Pope Pius XII tomorrow although members of Welles' staff considered such a meeting unlikely now in view of the short time available to the state department's No. 2 man.

Welles went to his conference with Premier Mussolini accompanied by William Phillips, the United States ambassador, and by Count Ciano's secretary, Marchese Blasco D'Ajeta. The meeting was in Mussolini's office in the Palazzo Venezia.

Welles is on a trip to report back to President Roosevelt on the situation here and in London, Paris and Berlin.

L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, devoted virtually its entire front page to an enthusiastic interview of the relations between the Vatican and the United States, timing this with arrival here yesterday of Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's new Vatican envoy.

Italians Impressed

Italians were much impressed with the length of time Ciano and Welles talked and said they believed they had made a deep examination of the problems confronting them.

Ciano also appeared to have been pleased by the conversation. He lingered 15 minutes over his farewells to President Roosevelt's special envoy and William Phillips, United States ambassador to Italy, Welles' only companion at the meeting.

The foreign secretary shook hands with each of his American visitors four times.

It was announced that Pope Pius XII would receive Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal emissary to the Vatican, tomorrow for presentation of his credentials.

(The United States and the Vatican do not have diplomatic relations, and Taylor, instead of being United States ambassador, is the President's personal envoy.)

Taylor, top-hatted and in morning clothes, paid an informal call on Luigi Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state. He was accompanied by Monsignor Joseph Hurley of Cleveland, American member of the Vatican secretariat of state.

MURRAY CHARGES PARTIES FAIL TO SOLVE PROBLEM

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., Feb. 26—Both the Democratic and Republican parties have failed to provide or suggest a solution to the unemployment problem, Philip Murray, vice president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, told northeastern Ohio C.I.O. members here yesterday.

He said labor and farm interests should present jointly to the major parties a program to end unemployment, and announced the national farm institute had pledged cooperation with the C.I.O. in an economic and industrial study, and the drafting of a program.

Lenten Foods With Flavor

During Lent we learn that self-denial is good for the soul. We give up things that we like, and we give up meat. But we don't have to give in to pointless menus and dreary substitutes, and surrender the essentials of a flavorsome, balanced diet.

Serve plenty of oranges and grapefruits and lemons for proper vitamin C content. Mash sweet potatoes, pumpkin or yellow squash, using orange juice as the liquid for a new and nutritious flavor combination.

Old-fashioned macaroni and cheese is the sort of dish that is liked the year 'round. Make it with one and one-half cups uncooked macaroni, broken into one-inch pieces; one and one-half cups grated American cheese, two tablespoons melted butter, three tablespoons prepared mustard, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon black pepper, two and one-fourth cups milk, two-thirds cup buttered bread crumbs. Cook macaroni in large amount of boiling, salted water until tender. Drain. Place alternate layers of macaroni and cheese in buttered baking dish. Blend butter, mustard, salt and pepper. Add milk. Pour over macaroni mixture. Bake in 350 degree F. oven for one hour. Top with bread crumbs and bake 15 minutes longer or until crumbs are browned. Makes six to eight portions.

Salmon chowder pie is a Lenten treat. Make it with four tablespoons fat, four tablespoons flour, one cup water drained from cooked vegetables, two cups milk, teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one and one-half cups diced cooked potatoes, one cup cooked sliced carrots, one cup cooked peas, one pound cooked salmon and one recipe bran-biscuit. Simmer onion in fat until tender. Add flour; stir to smooth paste. Add liquid ingredients; cook until thickened. Add seasonings, vegetables and flaked, boned salmon. Pour into large greased baking dish, cover with bran-biscuit dough rolled to fit dish. Bake in 425 degree F. oven about 20 minutes or until biscuits are done. Makes 10 servings.

Bran-biscuit dough is made with one-half cup bran, three-fourths cup buttermilk, one and one-half cups flour, teaspoon baking powder, teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon soda and one-half cup shortening. Soak bran in buttermilk. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and soda together. Cut in shortening until mixture is like coarse cornmeal. Add soaked bran; stir till dough follows fork around bowl. Turn onto floured board, knead lightly a few seconds; roll or pat to one-eighth inch thickness.

WELL-PLACED SINK EASES KITCHEN WORK

Location and Proper Height Among Factors To Consider.

If a kitchen is to function perfectly, the sink must be right. When you are building or remodeling, have the sink placed and fitted according to your own specifications. The sink should be central to all kitchen activities, not placed in a corner, as is so frequently the case. Elbow room is required for dish washing; one side for stacking used dishes, the other side for draining clean ones.

To find the correct height for a sink, stand erect and at ease, double your hands and let your knuckles rest on the bottom of the sink. In that position you can prove in advance that there will be no need for stooping while washing dishes. Most houseworkers find that 32 inches from the floor of the room to the floor of the sink is the most satisfactory height for the average woman. As to the size of the sink, that should be determined by the amount of household activities.

Have a good drain board, if possible of stainless metal. The equipment used for work about the sink should be placed in places convenient to it. There should be ample storage space for soaps, cleansers, polishes, dish towels and cloths in use. There also should be a place for brushes, knives and parers. The coffee and tea pots should be handy. There should be a good back splash board on the sink to protect the wall. If possible, place cabinets above the sink at either side, to hold the utensils and china in current use.

Acquire a stool or chair of the right height for sitting at the sink. If there's a cabinet under the sink, opening the door will generally permit the worker to sit in comfort. Sitting while preparing foods or washing dishes is a great saver of physical energy, making kitchen work much easier.

Proper lighting also is a great factor in conserving physical and nervous energy. The central kitchen lighting fixture is most desirable, since it sheds a soft, diffused glow over the room, but this should be augmented by a special light placed over the sink. One of those pin-it-up lighting fixtures is a good solution, if there is a light outlet nearby, and there should be.

FOR A RUST-FREE OVEN

Keep the broiling pan in your oven as clean as any other of your kitchen utensils. After using it, wash it in plenty of hot water and soap suds. Dry it perfectly before returning to the oven. Any moisture left on the pan might cause rust in the oven.

Good Company Salad

One c cubed apples, 1c nut meats, 1c celery.

Cut slices from top of red or green apples, scoop out the inside pulp, leaving just enough to hold skin in place. Fill shells with salad mixture and serve on lettuce leaves. A little salad dressing may be put on top of each. The apple cut in cubes, celery and nut mixture may be served on lettuce with salad dressing. Very quickly made.

Scallop of Salmon

One can pink salmon, 3c cracker crumbs, salt, pepper and butter. Butter baking dish, place layer of cracker crumbs, then a layer of salmon, pepper and salt to taste, put in bits of butter. Have cracker crumbs on top. Take 1 qt. whole milk and pour over. Use knife to see that milk reaches bottom layer of crackers. Sometimes it does not take a quart and sometimes more, as it should not be too dry. Put dabs of butter on top. Bake one hour.

HOUSEHOLD AIDS

Have you tried serving nuts baked in their shells for a confection treat? They are grand; try some for the group about the fireplace some chilly night. Put pecans, English walnuts or almonds in a shallow pan and heat 25 minutes in a moderately slow oven. Serve warm. They go perfectly with mulled cider and spicy doughnuts for teen-agers when they come in from skating.

Do you have trouble locating pots and kettles? Then it's time to revamp the cupboard. It probably will save your disposition as well as your time. Fasten narrow bars across the back of a tall cabinet. Screw hooks to the bars and hang utensils on the hooks. Have a lower shelf for shallow pans that won't hang.

To remove fingermarks from wall paper, rub the marks with a gum eraser or with soft bread until the marks disappear. Watch for signs of these stains and remove them promptly. For grease stains, try covering them with talcum powder or cake magnesia. Rub off with a clean brush after a day or so.

Wipe enameled stove surfaces daily with a cloth dipped in warm water and mild soap suds. This helps keep the stove in good order and will keep enamel shiny. Wipe when the stove is cool; if done when warm the enamel may crack.

When cane chair seats begin to sag, shrink them back into place like this: Turn the chairs upside down and wash the cane with warm water and mild soap suds; rinse well, then saturate with clear warm water and dry. Apply this treatment as soon as the cane shows any signs of sagging.

To freshen the mid-winter table, put some ivy in an amusing pottery container and set in the center of the table. The change is often welcome.

CLEANING CORDUROY

To keep light-colored corduroy garments in good condition, soak them two hours in mild soap suds and warm water as soon as they are the least bit soiled. Then wash them in more mild sudsy water and rinse them thoroughly in warm water. Hang up to dry and shake occasionally to get out wrinkles. When perfectly dry, brush them lightly with a soft brush to restore the nap. Press out any bindings or ribbon trimmings with a warm iron.

Olga Tells Veritzen of Secret Marks on Her Lost Gems.

PHILIP VERITZEN'S eyes went from Queen Olga's face to mine and back again. There was a distinctly puzzled expression in them, and I wondered if my imagination were playing me false or did I detect suspicion also in those brilliant eyes, reflecting one of the keenest brains to be found anywhere.

"Well! I'm here," I said banally, forcing a smile.

"Will you tell him, or shall I?" Queen Olga asked, then turned in explanation to Mr. Veritzen without waiting for me to answer.

"You see, I already have voiced my theory to Madge," she said, "and she advised me to ask you about it, as I meant to do anyway," she added with a charming and distinctly unregal smile.

He bowed from the waist, and then put me into a chair next to Queen Olga's, and drawing one for himself, sat down opposite.

Veritzen Suspicious

"I shall be very glad to listen to either of you," he said, and this time, as he glanced at me, I knew it was not my imagination, but that he was vaguely suspicious I had told Olga of his plan to substitute equally valuable emeralds for the necklace she had lost so that she might not feel she was coming to him penniless.

I must clear that suspicion up immediately, I knew, and I was glad of the opportunity Olga gave me when she said prettily:

"Won't you tell him what I asked you, Madge?" she pleaded. "I'm afraid I'll get it all mixed up."

"Of course," I said promptly, and involuntarily squared my shoulders as I faced Philip Veritzen.

"Olga knows," I began, "that my father is very sure the emeralds did not go to the bottom of the ocean during that fight upon the pirate ship. The bodies of the men who went overboard during the fight were searched, and divers were sent down to search the ocean floor in that vicinity. My father thinks they are now in the possession of some one of the men who escaped that night, but Olga asked me if there was not the possibility of the necklace already having been taken to pieces and the emeralds distributed to fences in widely different locations."

"I think it very likely," Philip Veritzen commented as I paused, but his face spelled very different words. I could almost hear the echo of one of Mary's slangy comments: "So what?"

"That's what I thought," I said quickly, "and Olga wondered if it wouldn't be possible to make inquiries of leading jewelers here and abroad if they recently had bought or had been offered emeralds of unusual size and value."

"Wouldn't that be feasible, Phil?" Olga asked, and at her words, I saw supicion wiped from his face and knew that he was accepting our theory at its face value.

"Entirely feasible," he said, "except for one thing. Single stones out of a necklace or tiara are extremely hard to identify except by experts. If the jeweler who sold them to you could undertake the job, I shall be happy to negotiate with him for you."

Secret Marks Bared

His thoughts were easy to read for me and for Olga, to whom I had revealed his intended magnificent gesture. He believed he had led up subtly to the thing he most desired, the name of the jewel craftsman who had fashioned that fabulous necklace.

But Olga's reply was as hope-shattering as it was prompt.

"I don't need my jeweler," she said. "Any trustyworthy man who can remmeber marks drawn for him on a piece of paper will do."

Philip Veritzen's voice was suddenly sharp—but unintentionally so, I knew, as he voiced a question.

"What do you mean?" he asked.

"Simply," she answered quietly, "that I myself scratched a tiny mark upon each one of those stones so that I could identify them if I ever needed to do so. Each mark was different from the others, but I can remember all of them and draw them again."

Pear, Rich in Food Value, Is "Queen of Fruits"

"The queen of fruits, fit for queens." That's the way a celebrated writer referred to that lovely fruit, the pear. Beautiful in shape, appearance and flavor, the pear is rich in calcium, phosphorus, iron, sulphur and copper.

Pears baked in ginger syrup offer that "something new" which all menu-makers seek. Recipe for six portions requires two-thirds cup sugar, three-fourths cup water, six to eight pears, juice of a lemon, one-half teaspoon ginger and rind of one-half lemon. Mix sugar, ginger, lemon rind and juice. Add water and boil for five minutes. Peel pears (leave whole), put in buttered baking dish, pour over syrup. Cover and bake one and one-half hours. Serve hot with whipped cream.

Nourishing Sweet

Anjou Pear Conde is all that a sweet should be—toothsome and nourishing. Make it with one cup boiling water, three tablespoons sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, two slightly beaten egg yolks, one-half cup rice, one and one-half cups milk and three tablespoons chopped ginger. Put water and salt in top of double boiler. Place on fire and add rice gradually, while stirring with a fork. Boil five minutes, place over lower part of double boiler and steam until rice kernels have absorbed water. Then add milk and continue steaming until kernels are soft. Add sugar and egg yolks, and continue cooking a few minutes. Mould on serving dish in conical shape and place on halves of pears (cooked until soft in a syrup). Sprinkle all with ginger. Serves six.

Party Dessert

For a delightful party dessert, especially for youngsters, use lady fingers or sponge cake to line a dish. Then add cubed, peeled pears and sliced bananas, a little currant jelly on top of the fruit. Then make a custard and pour it over the fruit when cold. Top the whole with whipped cream, meringue or toasted marshmallows. Serve with animal crackers. Pershing Recalls Warning in 1918 Against Armistice

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 26—Gen. Pershing believes that had the allied powers heeded his recommendation for Germany's unconditional surrender in 1918, Europe would be at peace today.

In an interview at his lodge on the edge of the desert, the 79-year-old general declared events since the World war armistice had justified his unflinching stand at the time.

General Pershing sent a document to the allied supreme war council on Oct. 30, 1918, setting forth the reasons why he believed an armistice was then ill-advised.

In it he asserted that by "accepting the principle of a negotiated peace rather than a dictated peace the allies would jeopardize the moral position they now hold and possibly lose the chance actually to secure world peace on terms that would insure permanence."

Although he counselled forcing Germany to lay down arms unconditionally, the American World war commander said if an armistice was granted "the terms should be so rigid that under no circumstances could Germany take up arms."

In reality, he added, the armistice permitted the Germans to march back "with colors flying and bands playing, and posing as victims of political conditions."

General Pershing's comments on the inter-allied negotiations preceding the armistice was prompted by yesterday's disclosures from the second volume of papers of Robert Lansing, secretary of state during the World war.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS TO MEET HERE NEXT SPRING

Marion Selection at District Session in Crestline.

Marion was selected for the spring meeting at which officers will be elected when the North Eastern district of the Ohio Funeral Directors' association met Friday night at Trinity Lutheran church in Crestline. The meeting will be held here some time in May.

It was a "ladies' night" dinner party and about 40 members and guests attended from Richland, Crawford, Morrow, Ashland and Marion counties. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Denzer and L. A. Axe were present from Marion.

Russell McKnight of Columbus, legal advisor of the state association, talked on "New and Impending Funeral Professions." Mr. Axe, secretary of the examining board of the state association, gave a short talk.

During the business session, which was in charge of Dale Craven of Mt. Gilead, president, the women were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orie Garverick.

On the host committee were Mr. Garverick, Robert Beck and Paul Wilhelm of the Foster funeral home. Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Lange were guests. The program included songs by Paul Furry and piano selections by Albert Smith.

DOCTORS stress remaining in bed until the body temperature is normal. Sound advice.

You know how weak you feel after a cold. Colds play havoc in weakening the body. The story is well told in the blood picture. It is important to build back body strength right away to carry the load of work, worries, and loss of sleep. A weakened body may be more susceptible to relapse or long drawn out recovery.

So reason sensibly and take the choice of millions by immediately starting on a course of S.S.S. Tonic—taken three times a day immediately before meals. In the absence of a focal infection or organic disease, you should note improvement in the way you feel and look within the first 10 days. In the Cannon Mountain Aerial Tramway, Franconia Notch, N. H., Bob Bourdon (above) enjoys a slow-burning Camel. "No speed for me in my smoking," says this ski champion. "Camels are slower-burning and give me extra mildness, extra coolness, and extra flavor."

"THE faster the going, the more fun in skiing," says Bob Bourdon. But he has a different angle on cigarettes. When Bob Bourdon says "Slow burning is my guide to more mildness, more coolness, and more flavor," he's putting the stamp of actual smoking experience on the laboratory findings of science.

Fast burning in a cigarette means heat. Nothing dulls the delicate elements of cigarette flavor and aroma so surely as excess heat. There's little pleasure or comfort in a hot, flat smoke in which the flavor has been burned away. The extra mildness, refreshing coolness, and smooth, mellow flavor of Camels are confirmed by recent widely reported scientific tests, in which Camels burned slowest of [illegible] of the largest-selling brands tested! G.O.P. SUPPORT SEEN FOR PARITY PROGRAM

Republican Backing Would Assure Adoption.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—Po- [illegible] Republican support for a [illegible],000 farm parity fund injected fresh controversy today into study of the agriculture appropriation bill, center of the current economy battle.

Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, said he was inclined to favor the plan, which is sponsored by a group of farm state Democrats. If the Republicans vote for it, he asserted, senate approval would be assured.

Democratic Leader Barkley, on the other hand, told reporters that it was highly doubtful whether the senate would authorize parity payments, an issue which the house did not consider.

Such an appropriation, Barkley declared, would necessitate either additional taxes or an increase in the $45,000,000,000 national debt limitation.

After a slack period, both branches of congress were settling down this week to a heavier schedule in the hope of adjourning a few weeks before the Republican national convention, which opens June 24.

The senate finance committee lost no time in considering the house-approved bill to extend the reciprocal trade program for three years. It called Secretary Hull to renew the administration arguments in favor of the measure.

The senate and house ticketed routine appropriation bills for debate this afternoon. The house will consider tomorrow the senate measure to increase capital of the export - import bank from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000. The increase would make possible an additional loan to Finland.

WALLACE DEFENDS PROGRAM IN SENATE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—Secretary Wallace told the senate appropriations committee today that failure to vote farm parity funds "or their equivalent" might seriously hamper crop control programs and create new price-depressing surpluses.

In giving his advice he joined a group of senators who want to vote $200,000,000 for parity payments. Economy forces are battling the farm bloc, which may win Republican backing.

"The high participation in the program and the effective farmer control over supplies in 1939 have resulted in a large part," Wallace said, "from the adequate incentive offered by the soil conservation and parity payments combined."

If parity payments are not provided, he declared, farmers will be encouraged to return to "big production for markets that do not exist."

Sharing the limelight with the special elections was the declaration of Herbert S. Bigelow at Dayton that he would be a candidate for governor or congressman-at-large, subject to the Democratic primary May 14.

The Cincinnati city councilman admitted that he had no desire to win, but would become a candidate so that he could discuss his old age pension program on the radio. His proposal to guarantee monthly incomes of $50 to single persons over 60 and $80 to couples was defeated in last November's election.

Bigelow said his decision on which office to seek would depend upon whether "a friend" who favored his pension plan would file for governor. He did not identify his "friend."

HULL TELLS COMMITTEE TRADE PACTS NECESSARY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—Secretary Hull described continuance of the reciprocal trade program today as necessary to help establish sound world conditions after the European war.

Jubilant over house approval of the administration bill to extend the trade agreements act for three years, Hull told the senate finance committee:

"The need for keeping alive the principles which underlie the trade agreements program is crucial now, during the war emergency, and will be of even more decisive importance after the war.

"Even a temporary abandonment of the program now would be construed everywhere as its permanent abandonment."

The secretary of state was the first witness before the committee, which will decide whether to recommend senate passage of the measure.

LEAGUE FINDS STATE EXPENSES REDUCED

Auditors Report Cut of Nearly Two Millions.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 26—Citizens' Tax League auditors found that the 1939 state pay roll of $32,973,494 was $1,969,746, or 5.6 per cent, less than in 1938. The report covered 57 state departments.

Increases were noted in the legislative and judicial branches of government. The legislature was responsible for a payroll gain of $51,836 because of its regular session in 1939 as contrasted with a special session in 1938. Personnel costs in the judiciary rose $9,515.

The greatest payroll slash was in the state highway department which paid $7,105,105 for personal services last year compared to $8,110,424 in 1938.

Other decreases included: Liquor department $639,478, tax commission $252,521, industrial commission $134,184, auditor $97,283, agriculture $53,678, commerce $32,835, attorney general $29,075, and treasurer $26,445.

Finance Director R. R. Bangham reported last month that the payroll saving last year amounted to $2,265,382, or $295,636 more than the tax league's audit disclosed.

Martin L. Davey was governor in 1938, while Gov. Bricker took over the state government in 1939.

3 ARRESTED ON TRAFFIC CHARGES OVER WEEK-END

One Fined, Two Others Forfeit Bonds in Court Here.

Three motorists were arrested by police and state patrolmen here over the week-end on traffic violation charges. They are:

Charles E. Flavin, 23, of Delaware who was arrested by State Patrolmen W. C. Coder and David Weissert on Delaware avenue last night on a reckless driving charge after a five-mile chase on Route 23; George Bricker, 19, of near Marion who was arrested by police early yesterday on a charge of speeding 60 miles an hour on Bellefontaine avenue; and Richard Noblet, 19, of near Caledonia, arrested by police early yesterday on a charge of driving a car bearing improper license plates issued to another person for another car.

Noblet pleaded guilty before Municipal Judge Hazen this morning and was fined $25 and costs of which $15 was suspended.

Flavin and Bricker were released under bonds of $14.70 and $16.20, respectively, which were declared forfeited when they failed to appear in municipal court this morning. The highway patrolmen said the Flavin car was traveling approximately 75 miles an hour and was zig-zagging across the highway.

"G.W.T.W."

Scarlett O'Hara was as difficult as any ever made, for the simple reason that every reader of the tome had his or her idea of the actress who should have the role. Miss Leigh, (pronounced Lee) does a superb job.

Clark Gable is the perfect Rhett Butler to 99.44 per cent of the "G. W. T. W." fans and Gable in technicolr is a dashing figure. He plays his role with the right touch. He and Miss Leigh create their characters expertly enough that no one in the audience is sorry for her when he leaves her. He does such a thorough job of telling her off that rounds of cheers are in order.

Outstanding Performers

Acting honors in the supporting cast I give to Olivia de Havilland, who handles beautifully the extremely difficult role of Melanie Wilkes, and Hattie McDaniel, Negress, who plays Scarlett's mammy. Miss de Havilland's portrayal is of a truly gentle southern lady. She might easily have over emoted and made Melanie a saccharine creature. Hattie McDaniel gives one of the finest portrayals I've ever seen by a member of her race. She personifies my conception of the real on southern mammy.

Leslie Howard, probably the most experienced actor in the cast with the exception of Thomas Mitchell, who makes Gerald O'Hara a fine figure of a man, achieves an Ashley Wilkes who should meet with the satisfaction of readers of the novel.

The picture bristles with fine character portrayals: Ona Munson as Belle Watling, "that woman" with whose name no Atlanta gentlewoman would besmirch her lips; Laura Hope Crews as the becurled "Aunt Pittypat"; Barbara O'Neil, Carroll Nye, Harry Davenport as "Dr. Meade," Alicia Rhett, Rand Brooks, Ann Rutherford, Butterfly McQueen, a veritable "Topsy," Oscar Polk, Victor Jory, Jane Darwell.

Lavish Presentation

The picture contains undoubtedly the most beautiful and breath-taking technicolor photography conceivable. Sets are lavish—Tara, Twelve Oaks, Atlanta, the siege, the burning, the scene at the Atlanta railroad station with acres of dead and dying soldiers, Atlanta reconstructed, Aunt Pittypat's fussy, overdone home, Scarlet and Rhett's garish Atlanta mansion.

Marion will be talking about it months from now and will be holding it up as a criterion in judging pictures yet to come from Hollywood.

It owes its prestige to David O. Selznick, the producer, Victor Fleming, the director, and Sidney Howard who wrote the screen play.

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR FORMER MARION RESIDENT

Funeral services were held yesterday at Mt. Vernon for Mrs. Ellen Elizabeth Thomas, 86, a former Marion resident. She died Friday at Mercy hospital in Mt. Vernon after two weeks' illness of pneumonia. She had been in failin health several years.

Mrs. Thomas was the widow of George C. Thomas, employed by the Prendergast Lumber Co. when they resided here about 30 years ago. Mr. Thomas was an uncle of Dr. F. L. Thomas of 337 South Main street.

Services were conducted at the Brandon Methodist church with Rev. Hugh Wayt officiating and burial was in Brandon cemetery.

SEC. LANSING PAPERS REVEAL U. S. THREAT

Virgin Islands Purchase from Danes Aired.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. — A "big stick" threat by the United States won Danish consent to sale of the Virgin islands in 1915, when this government feared that another power—apparently Germany—might get them.

The "inside story" of how America bought the 50 small islands, which President Wilson considered of strategic importance to defense of the Panama Canal, was disclosed today by state department publication of letters of Robert Lansing, wartime secretary of state.

The Danes agreed to the transfer when Lansing said that he could conceive of circumstances under which the United States would seize the islands.

Informed sources saw in the disclosure an analogy to present-day suggestions by several congressmen and others that, if Germany should defeat Britain and France, the United State should occupy the British and French West Indies rather than permit them to fall into German hands.

The Danes asked $27,000,000 for the islands. Lansing offered $20,000,000.

No headway was made until President Wilson finally instructed Lansing that "acquisition of the islands for defense purposes justifies us in negotiating on the basis of $27,000,000."

Canny Secretary Lansing, however, offered the Danes $25,000,000—and they accepted.

3 ARRESTED FOLLOWING ALTERCATION AT GRILL

Oliver Hoskins, 21, of Columbus and Merle Wise, 27, of 282 East Walnut street were arrested by police about 2 a. m. yesterday on intoxication and disorderly conduct charges following an altercation at Paulson's Grill on West Center street.

A few minutes later a companion, George Borchers, 23, of Columbus was arrested on an intoxication charge when he appeared at police station and attempted to post bond for Hoskins and Wise. Officers said Borchers created a disturbance when told that his companions could not be released for several hours.

Later in the morning Hoskins and Wise were released under bonds of $21.20 each and Borchers under bond of $16.20. The bonds were declared forfeited this morning when the men failed to appear in municipal court.

Police answering a call to help break up an altercation arrested Hoskins and Wise as they were leaving the grill. The disturbance, in which spectators said six or seven men were involved, had ended when police arrived.

STATE AIDS FARMERS WITH SOY BEAN TESTS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Feb. 26. — State agriculture department laboratories were available today to farmers wishing to test germination of soybeans seed.

C. N. McIntyre, state seed specialist, said 218 tests on yellow beans showed average germination of only 71.4 per cent compared with normal of 90 per cent.

He recommended sowing an increased quantity of seed in each acre to realize a good stand, unless sources of high germinating seed were discovered.

Drought during the 1939 maturing season may have been responsible for the low rate of germination, McIntyre said.

CARD GAME ROBBED

CLEVELAND, Feb. 26—Three gunmen who lined 20 card players against the wall at an East 105th street restaurant failed to search the shoes and shirts of some of the players, so their haul wasn't as large as it might have been. A few of the victims hid jewelry and money in their footwear or slipped it inside their shirts. Robbers obtained a total of $348, a wrist watch and a diamond ring from 10 of the men.

CONG. SMITH AGAIN HITS TRADE TREATY

Asserts It Destroys Liberty To Write Tariff Laws.

The reciprocal trade treaties act destroys the liberty of the people to write their own tariff laws, Eighth District Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion declared in an address prepared for the congressional record, a report from Washington stated today.

He pointed out the Constitution provides that only through congress can such authority be exercised and that all rights of congressmen to represent their people in tariff matters have been taken away from them.

"...to tell us the public has full opportunity to be heard on all these treaties before they are concluded is the most cruel mockery. How many of the 45 million voters of our country can really attend these hearings?" Congressman Smith asked.

He also charged that to point to the qualifications and fitness of State Secretary Hull to administer the treaty act is absurd.

"Since when have we adopted the principle of passing laws to accommodate individuals?"

He admitted that there was log rolling and horse trading under the old method of tariff rate making and that no one has questioned their evil, but declared: "As for myself I will take a horse trader any day for a bureaucrat."

He also pointed out that if the argument which has been used "to destroy the people's constitutional right to write tariff rates is permitted to dominate, all our liberties are in jeopardy because there is no activity of the government that could not be subjected to the same sinister reasoning."

CALLS ON ALLAH AS DEATH IN CHAIR NEARS

Negro Prisoner Implores Mohammedan Deity.

By The Associated Press

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Feb. 26—Each of two men spoke two words just before dying in Pennsylvania's electric chair today, one addressing a newspaperman-witness and the other the deity.

Andrew Schurtz, 48, of Shamokin, Pa., recognized Joseph Agor, a newsman from his home town, among the witnesses in the execution chamber, and called out:

"Hello, Joe."

The other, William Kelly, 34-year old Philadelphia Negro, startled those present by yelling "Allah, Allah!"—the name of the supreme being in his Mohammedan religion.

Kelly received the death sentence for killing a Philadelphia policeman, Henry Berry, during an attempted holdup. Schurtz, a WPA project worker, fatally shot his foreman, Edward C. Fisher, after being told he would be dismissed unless he paid more attention to his work.

William H. Yeager 59-year old farmer of Danville, Pa., also under sentence to be executed today, killed himself with a revolver in his cell at Montour county jail Saturday. Yeager was convicted of slaying James E. Fessler, a state policeman.

New War Speeches Have Not Injured Cause of Peace

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

When we come to analyze the latest war-aim speeches of British Premier Chamberlain and Fuehrer Hitler—not overlooking the circumstances surrounding them—it strikes me that we can at least say they haven't damaged the cause of peace.

The worst one could claim for them would be that they hadn't brought us any nearer to war's end. Indeed, all things considered we would seem to be justified in getting a certain degree of satisfaction from the situation.

One hastens to qualify this by making it clear it isn't a suggestion that the appointed hour for peace has arrived, because it obviously hasn't.

Peace Desire Exists

Our satisfaction must come from the knowledge that a very general desire for peace does exist among all the belligerents, for this war is a monstrosity which lacks the soul to inspire followers.

Premier Chamberlain's speech came first. Chamberlain was firm but not violent. He reiterated that the allies wouldn't deal with the present German government, and once more in effect invited the German people to get rid of their present rulers. No reference was made to Naziism as such.

The premier repeated that Czecho-Slovakia and Poland must be restored, but it was noticeable that he made no reference to Austria, which recently has been mentioned by allied statesmen as on the list for restoration.

Hitler's reply was exactly what one would expect under the circumstances. He lashed out at Chamberlain, declared that the German people couldn't be made to desert their leader, and made the impassioned assertion that with the help of God Germany would smash her enemies.

Meant for Many Ears

It undoubtedly was intended partly as a retort to Chamberlain, and partly for home consumption to keep his people in line. It also quite likely was meant for the ears of Sumner Welles, President Roosevelt's personal emissary of peace, lest he get the idea Germany was weakening in her peace demands.

But we mustn't overlook this:—while Hitler is soft-pedaling Welles' visit so far as the German public is concerned, he is known to be making elaborate preparations for a cordial reception of President Roosevelt's representative.

If Hitler were trying to destroy hope for peace, he wouldn't at the same time take all this trouble to cultivate Welles.

It must be obvious to all concerned by this time that he himself is the chief barrier to peace by negotiation. Unless he is prepared to make the great personal sacrifice of withdrawing from public life the war must run to a decision.

LOUISIANA DEMOCRATS FACE NEW LONG BATTLE

By The Associated Press

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 26—Louisiana's embattled democracy, always ready for a good fight, had a new one on its hands today before it could draw a deep breath after voting Gov. Earl K. Long out of office last Tuesday.

Long, over the week-end, wished himself onto Governor-designate Sam H. Jones' official family as secretary of state.

Jones said he certainly didn't want him there and threatened to throw the matter into the courts.

The defeated governor displayed some of the political agility of his brother, the late Huey P. Long, by having the Democratic state central committee declare him nominee for the $9,000-a-year job as secretary of state.

Incumbent E. A. Conway Sr., affiliated with Long, died last Monday. He had been renominated in the first primary Jan. 16.

ACCIDENTS CAUSE NINE OHIO WEEK-END DEATHS

By The Associated Press

Accidents caused nine deaths in Ohio over the week-end, five of them traffic.

Oscar Duhl, 38, of Plain City, was killed in an automobile-truck collision, 15 miles northwest of Columbus.

Fires caused two deaths. Dr. Lewis C. O'Donnell, Greenville dentist, died in his laboratory in flames believed the result of a chemical explosion. Mrs. James P. Hyland, 43, mother of eight, was burned to death in a bed set afire by a cigaret.

WESTERVILLE MANAGER TAKES PORTSMOUTH JOB

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., Feb. 26—Ross E. Windom, city manager of Westerville for 10 years, assumed a similar position here today succeeding Frank M. Sheehan, who was dismissed Saturday.

Windom, who received $3,600 a year at Westerville, will get $5,000 here. Sheehan's salary was $7,300.

Sheehan had resigned effective March 31, but city council voted that he be dismissed immediately.

"WPA projects have been held up, disinterest has been shown in all affairs of the city by the present city manager and a feeling of unrest is prevalent in this community," asserted Councilman Russell Frissell in backing the dismissal resolution.

'Ghost Basketball' Game Played on Armory Court

Ghost basketball made its debut in Marion last night, some 200 spectators witnessing the unusual "blackout" contest staged at the Armory court between the Ralph's Snappy Service and Miwday Restaurant teams.

Members of both squads were garbed in phosphorescent suits and floor lines and baskets were marked with luminous material. Lights of the gymnasium were turned out for the game, which Ralph's won, 19-17.

In a regulation contest that followed Ralph's quintet avenged an earlier loss by trouncing the North Electric Mfg. Co. cagers of Galion, 54-32. It was the season's second loss for the visitors, who previously had bowed only to the Bliss College team of Columbus.

NOTED WRITER FOR A.P. DIES AFTER OPERATION

Credited with Inspiring Kellogg Peace Pact.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Smith Freeman Reavis, 46, for 20 years an editor and writer for The Associated Press, who died Saturday night after an operation a week ago to remove a blood clot.

A memorial requiem mass will be conducted at St. Luke's Episcopal church at 9 a. m. by Rev. Paul C. Weed, Jr. Reavis's body will be cremated and the ashes buried in Arlington national cemetery. A captain in the U. S. army in the World war, he was decorated by the British and French governments.

He was recognized internationally as the man who, as an Associated Press correspondent in Paris, wrote a story which inspired the Kellogg-Briend pact outlawing war. The pact which was signed by virtually every civilized nation in the world.

FBI STRIKES SUDDEN BLOW AT MIAMI VICE

21 Jailed on Mann Act Violation Charges.

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26 —Agents of the federal bureau of investigation, acting alone and with quiet precision, cracked down on vice in the Miami area last night, rounding up 21 prisoners and sending them to the county jail for booking on Mann act violations.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who previously had said Miami authorities gave him only "lip service" in promising to cooperate in cleaning up "vice inefficiency and corruption," moved silently in the background. He came here two weeks ago, ostensibly, for a vacation.

Federal agents handed each of 10 women jailed a newspaper to hide behind when newspaper photographers appeared.

BRITISH ALARMED BY BLOCKADE GAPS

Fear War Supplies Flowing from U. S. to Nazis.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Feb. 26—Fear that war supplies are flowing to Germany through gaps in the British blockade prompted a series of uneasy questions for the government in the house of commons today.

One source of concern was figures showing that exports from the United States to Great Britain and France rose only 10 per cent in the last four months of 1939 over the like period in 1938, while they increased 47 per cent to European neutrals.

Ronald Cross, minister of economic warfare, who told the house last month the contraband control net was being "drawn very tightly," was asked to what extent concessions letting neutrals import more than their own requirements was dulling the edge of the blockade.

At the same time, informed sources said, Britain was about to complete a trade agreement with Norway—despite the still-unsettled issue over the Altmark case—and that the accord might include substantial concessions for Norwegian ships under contraband control.

These sources said the understanding might cover an arrangement permitting "navicerted" Norwegian cargoes—those given a "passport" by British blockade officials before sailing—to complete their voyages without calling at contraband control bases.

In Berlin yesterday, the German high command reported that counterblockade activity of German naval and air forces had sunk 498 allied and neutral ships totaling 1,810,315 tons and carrying contraband for Britain in the five months up to Feb. 20. (An Associated Press tabulation Saturday recorded only 425 ships of all nations, including warships, totaling 1,430,807 tons, sunk since the war began).

It was announced that Oslo had replied to sharp British questioning, defending Norway's action in dealing with the German prison ship Altmark from which the British rescued 299 captive merchant seamen in Norwegian territorial waters Feb. 16.

Britain, on the other hand, charged that in letting German ships traverse her waters to escape the blockade, Norway was taking an "unneutral" position.

BROWN CHARGES U. S. UNFAIR TO FARMERS

Declares Army Buys Foreign Lard Substitutes.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—The administration has bought millions of pounds of lard substitutes annually while telling farmers there was a surplus of pork products, Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio) said today. He asserted the war department alone purchases each year an average of 10,000,000 pounds of lard substitutes, made largely from imported fats and oils and in most instances prices paid for lard and substitutes "were exactly the same."

"I make the open charge," Brown stated, "that the Roosevelt administration is not playing fair with the American farmer.

Brown declared the "war department alone, Secretary of War Woodring admits, is purchasing an average of ten million pounds of lard substitutes a year. These lard substitutes are manufactured from fats and oils, practically all of which are imported from foreign countries. Every pound of substitute used means one less pound of home-produced lard consumed."

60 MILLIONS VOTED FOR FARM PAYMENTS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 — The house appropriations committee granted an additional $60,000,000 for farm benefits payments today in approving a $90,069,139 deficiency supply bill.

At the same time, however, the committee cut presidential estimates for the measure by $4,320,704, bringing the total congressional cuts off President Roosevelt's requests to $274,000,000 for this legislative session.

The total in the deficiency bill included $90,000 for the pay of 45 secret service agents and five clerks to guard the President and his family "in view of the conditions in this country arising as a result of the wars in Europe."

Claridon Edges Caledonia, 26-25, for Tourney Titl

Both Teams Go To Sectional Meet; Prospect Beats Pleasant, 21-17, To Win Third Place.

By CHARLES HOSTETTLER
Marion Star Sports Editor

CLARIDON, league title winner, added the Marion county tournament crown to its trophy case by edging Caledonia, 26-25, in Saturday night's championship duel at the Marion Steam Shovel gymnasium.

Prospect, loser of a first-round tourney game, hit the comeback trail to oust Pleasant, 21-17, in the consolation final to qualify as the third team to represent Marion county in the district meet.

Claridon kept its record against county competition unmarred by sweeping through the tournament after completing the regular schedule with 11 straight victories. The champions trailed 7-5 at the quarter and midway in the second were on the short end of a 11-5 count. From that point on Coach A. B. Augenstein's title-bent crew took command.

Move Up Fast

Caskey, Sims and Yager registered in rapid succession to knot the tally at 11-all. The quintets jockeyed for leadership through the remainder of the period, Caledonia managed to grasp a one point edge, 16-15, at intermission. Everything went Claridon's way in the third, Price sinking a pair of fielders and Caskey accounting for another to run the champions' advantage to 21-18.

Kelley's tip-in try for Caledonia cut the lead to 21-20 as the fourth opened. Lashey flipped one from the side and Sims added a sucker shot to keep the victors in front 25-20. Caledonia's substitute center, Garber, netted a pair to slash the lead to 25-24. In the closing minutes Yager tossed a charity shot for Claridon and Ulsh duplicated for Caledonia to keep the teams within a point of each other as the final gun barked.

Drawings Today

Claridon, Caledonia and Prospect will represent Marion county in the district meet, drawings for which were to be made today at Westerville. It will be the sixth trip to the district meet in the past seven seasons for Prospect.

Consolation semi-finals Saturday afternoon saw Prospect whip Martel, 26-17, while Pleasant edged LaRue, 19-17. The Pleasant-LaRue game went into the second overtime period, being decided on a goal by Forward Reiff. Saturday night's audience was treated to the tilt between Pleasant and Agosta for the championship of the Young Farmers Club tourney. Pleasant won, 35-29.

List of Winners

Trophy winners in Marion county basketball for the 1939-40 season, lists these victors: Boys—Claridon, league and tournament championships; Caledonia, league and tournament runner-up; Prospect, tournament third place; Pleasant, tournament fourth place; Meeker, for first year's participation in league basketball. Girls—Kirkpatrick, league championship; Morral, league runner-up.

Buckeyes Meet Hoosiers Tonight

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Feb 26—The Big Ten basketball spotlight shifts here where Ohio State's still hopeful Buckeyes entertain Indiana in the feature game of tonight's hardwood program.

The Bucks, who nosed out the Hoosiers for the title a year ago, can all but knock Indiana out of the picture with a victory.

Purdue, the top quintet with eight triumphs in nine games, faces Iowa.

MALE SHOOTERS LOSE TO WOMEN IN MEET

Two Championships Go To Feminine Entries

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Feb 26—An Akron woman and a 17-year-old girl wore midwest marksmanship crowns as proof of their superiority over male competitors in the 15th annual midwest small bore rifle championship.

A record field of 252 competed in the two day event at Fort Hayes which saw four national and two match records established and two other national marks equalled.

Mrs Dorothea Kelly of Akron took the three-position all-around title, tying the national record of 389 of 600.

Edith Hancock, 17, of Akron fired 281 of 300 to win the junior title and add four points to the match record.

Sam Bond of New Philadelphia set a new national record of 144 consecutive 10s in the 50 foot prone event. Mrs Kelly had the previous record of 13[illegible].

HARPSTER IS WYANDOT CO CHAMP 2ND STRAIGHT YEAR

Edges Salem Quintet 30 to 29 to Capture Tourney Title

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY Feb 26—Harpster won the Wyandot county basketball tournament title for the second consecutive year, edging Salem 30-29. In the final game here Saturday night Harpster led 21-18 going into the final period and managed to stave off the one man scoring spree of Predmore, Salem forward, to retain a one-point margin.

Co-Captains Carl Searles and Harold Dillion of the Harpster team received the championship trophy presented by Homer Kuenzli, Nevada superintendent. The champions are coached by Kenneth Somerlot, graduate of Miami and former pupil at Pleasant Township, Marion county.

Wharton defeated Nevada 28-15 in the consolation preliminary. Summary of the title game follows:

INDUSTRIAL LOOP CAGE GAMES ARE POSTPONED

Wednesday night's season-ending games of the Industrial basketball league have been postponed because of the conflict with an exhibition game set for the Marion Steam Shovel court, Dick Brandt, Y M C A physical director, announced today.

The famous New York Renaissance colored team will play the Columbus Athletic & Supply Co at the Steam Shovel court. Bernard Berens, St Mary coach, is a member of the Columbus team and also of Bindley's entry in the Industrial league.

Postponed Industrial league games will be played a week later, March 7.

Hurdler Tries Big League Ball

Elmer Gedeon, a championship hurdler with the University of Michigan last season, is taking a try at big league baseball and by way of warming up he is shown in the Washington Senators training camp at Orlando, Fla, leaping over Jimmy Wasdell, first baseman. Gedeon, 6 feet 4 inches tall, is also after the first base position. He played in the outfield for the Orlando club last year.

BOWLING TOURNEY ARRANGEMENTS MADE

Inter-City Event To Begin Next Saturday Night

Schedule for the annual Inter-City bowling tournament which opens on the alleys of the Marion Recreation Center next weekend was compiled when executive officers of the organization convened here yesterday.

Mayor Russell C Snare, A A Wintersteller of Sandusky and W D Thompson of Delaware, association officers, will formally open the meet at 7 p m Saturday. Five-man events will be rolled Saturday night and Sunday with singles and doubles Sunday morning, afternoon and night.

Eight Marion clubs will line up in the first shift of five-man competition. A score of visiting teams from scattered points in Ohio are booked to come here Saturday and Sunday, including seven from Lorain, three from Lima, two each from Bucyrus, Elyria, Findlay and Fostoria and one each from Mansfield, Napoleon and Zanesville.

UPPER SANDUSKY DRAWS FINDLAY AS FIRST FOE

Kenton-Crestline, Celina-Bucyrus Games Set, Galion Idle

Special to The Star

FINDLAY, Feb 26 — Findlay and Upper Sandusky are paired for the first game of the district Class A basketball tournament which opens here Wednesday night. The second will bring together Fostoria and Wapakoneta.

Two other first round duels set for Thursday night pair Kenton with Crestline and Celina with Bucyrus. Two Lima teams, Central and South, along with Galion and St. Marys, drew first round byes.

The quarter-finals will be played Friday and Saturday with the semi-finals and championship games the following week-end. Winner of the meet will qualify for the state tourney at Columbus.

COLUMBUS PAIR TAKES LEAD IN PIN DOUBLES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Feb 26 — A Columbus pair—Estelle Roesner and Ruth Sauer—paced the Class A doubles today as the only new leaders to emerge from the third and busiest week end of the state women's bowling tournament.

Scoring 1,163, the combination easily supplanted Lora and Dora McMillen, Cincinnati sisters, who topped the field until last night with 1,113.

The defending champions in that division—Rose Zerneckel and Hazel Richards of Canton—faltered badly and finished with a 1,075, well out of the first five.

Irish Have Easy Time on Trip to Columbus

Marion St Mary cagers closed their regular season by journeying to the home court of Columbus Aquinas and racking up a 43-29 victory Saturday night.

The Saints, displaying their best form in recent games, took command at the starting whistle and were in the driver's seat every second of the way.

Johnny [illegible], lanky Irish pivotman, rimmed the hoop for six fielders and a free throw to set the scoring tempo with 13 points. Ted Schuler was only a point behind, garnering 12 on five fielders and a brace of free tosses.

There was little about the game of an exciting nature. St Mary was in front 12-6 by the close of the quarter and boasted a 25-11 lead at intermission. The locals outstepped Aquinas 10-5 in the third round to increase the advantage to 35-16 and then coast across the finish mark.

St Mary dropped the reserve game 20-16 after getting away to a first quarter lead and stalemating their opposition 7-7 at half-time.

The Irish varsity will enter the district class B basketball tournament opening this week at Westerville. Coach Bernard Berens was to go to Westerville late today to attend a meeting of coaches at which pairings were to be made.

TEAM MATCH SET FOR TONIGHT AT SHOVEL

Rayburn-Williams To Meet Angelo-LaCrosse Duo

Marion wrestling fans are offered the renewal of a team feud and a special one hour preliminary on tonight's card at the Marion Steam Shovel arena.

Billy Rayburn and Al Williams will be out to repeat their victory over Gil LaCrosse and Martino Angelo. This time they'll settle for nothing less than a clean cut win, while their foes will be seeking vengeance for last week's mauling.

Andy Tremaine of Phoenix, Ariz, and Higami, the Japanese ju jitsu artist, are paired for the preliminary set to begin at 8:30.

BECOMES PESSIMIST

Wrestling Coach Billy Thom of Indiana predicted his team would be the best in Indiana history. Then in short order he lost eight top-notch men, including a Big Ten champ, for various reasons.

Wooster Needs Just Or Win to Nab Two Crow

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Feb 26—L C Boles, director of athletics at the College of Wooster, doesn't believe in championships in college football, basketball and baseball, but he's about to have a couple forced upon him.

A year ago, when the Ohio Conference considered a proposal to select champions in the three sports, Director Boles led the fight to kill the amendment. His ideas carry weight in the 20-college circuit and the plan was shelved.

And now, for the second straight year, his Scots, coached by Mose Hole, have the best record in the basketball campaign and need only one win in their next two games to clinch the league laurels and the statewide honors.

CLEVELAND HOGS HONORS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 26—Linsz Recreation alleys of Cleveland are swarming with tough kegling combinations for the bowling wars.

One Linsz team today was listed as number one challenger for the national five-man championship after topping 15 of the country's best quintets in a tournament at Toledo. Another paced the Class A four-man competition in the 25th annual Union Printing Crafts bowling congress here with an all-time record of 2,455 score, and a third Linsz team led the Class B four-man event in the printers' joust, which ends today.

CHIEF VITT HAPPY OVER CHANCES FOR CLEVELAND

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 26—Manager Oscar Vitt wouldn't predict a pennant today for his Cleveland Indians but he was "happier about the club's chances" than at any time since he took over the reins of the Tribe.

"The Yankees aren't going to have any picnic this year," he asserted, "several clubs will give them trouble, and we'll be one of them."

Vitt scotched reports he wanted to get rid of Catcher Frankie Pytlak and Pitcher Johnny Allen; that he would farm out second baseman Ray Mack, and that his outfield was all set with Jeff Heath, Roy Weatherly and Ben Chapman.

DERRINGER WINS MEET

By The Associated Press

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 26—Paul Derringer, ace pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds, looks as good on a golf course as on the diamond. He won the Sarasota City golf tournament, defeating Johnny Moore, former major league outfielder now with Los Angeles, 9 and 8 in the scheduled 36-hole final yesterday.

WINS B'NAI B'RITH MEET

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., Feb. 26—The Dunhill Clothiers team of Dayton, rolled out a score of 3,039 last night to win the five-man team championship of the second annual B'nai B'rith bowling congress. L. Sajova of Dayton bowled 682 for singles honors. There were no doubles events.

FLORIDA BROADCAST TO HONOR MARION MARCH 19

Marion will be honored in a special broadcast over radio station WKAT at Miami Beach, Fla., March 19, from 7:05 to 7:20, according to an announcement received today by The Star from James Rice, director of public relations for the Miami Beach Kennel club, sponsor of the program.

The program is presented as a gesture of good will toward visitors to the Florida city.

Louis E. Michel, secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, announced the Chamber has been requested to prepare material about Marion for use on the broadcast.

The most powerful motor ship in the world, having Diesel engines capable of developing 32,000 horsepower, has been built for service between England and Australia.

"Eighteen to Thirty Associates" Have New Way To Hunt Jobs

THE SECOND STEP: Members of the contact committee confer with John L. Clymer, an employer, discuss possible jobs . . .

ONE RESULT: Marie Odenthall, an 18-to-30 associate, finds work in a bakery.

By SAM JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO—An intensive, scientific drive on the job market has been undertaken by a group of young unemployed people here.

Organized as the Eighteen to Thirty Associates—18 to 30 being their ages—they have the blessings of the Chamber of Commerce and of an advisory board of businessmen.

The job-hunting group is limited to 25 persons. Each one fills out an exhaustive questionnaire, which lists not only personal and vocational history but aptitudes, tastes and ambitions.

Everbody Works

Each day two of the applicants are studied and helped by the entire group, who work intensively to route them into jobs. If the group is not successful, the two names go back into the general list to await their next turn.

Meanwhile a "contact committee" is busy visiting employer after employer and finding vacancies and prospective vacancies.

Another committee goes in for research, studying fields of work for which the members may qualify.

All the work is on a volunteer basis. There are no paid officers and no dues.

When members get employment—and a number have, even at this early stage of the project—their places on the list of 25 are filled by others on the waiting list. Those who get jobs contribute 75 cents a week for three months toward expenses.

12,000 Prospective Members

The group had its origin in the efforts of Ted Landsborough to finds jobs for the numerous cashiers who worked under him at the San Francisco World's fair and were out of jobs when it closed.

"Our information is that there are more than 4,000,000 young men and women under 25 years of age who are unemployed," says Landsborough. "There are 12,000 in the city of San Francisco alone.

"Under the system we have set up, the whole group looks for employment for a person, instead of having that individual dissipate all his energy in a one-man quest."

"FORTY PLUS" SEEKS JOBS FOR OLDER MEN

Associated Press Feature Service

LOS ANGELES—Doing voluntary placement work similar to that of San Francisco's Eighteen to Thirty Associates, but dealing with an older group is the Forty Plus Association, which has headquarters in Los Angeles and 28 branches throughout the country.

The Forty Plus-ers comprise a group of mature well-groomed men who have two things in common; unemployment and ages of 40 or better.

Most of them have a record of real success in business or professional fields, and think they can make real contributions again if they can just find jobs.

had to be handled personally, but they were not all particularly hard to get. They need all possible Washington aid in their local reelection campaigns.

No Smoke

These mounting critical statements from Democratic congressmen on the third term do not represent an organized effort to smoke out Mr. Roosevelt. Senators and representatives were prodded into making them by newsmen asking questions in an effort to develop news. In no case did the critical congressmen volunteer the statements.

New Angle

Philological Senator Ashurt has worked out the real reason there will be no third term. Presidential eras run in three's, and Mr. Roosevelt is the last of the "double OO" era of Coolidge and Hoover.

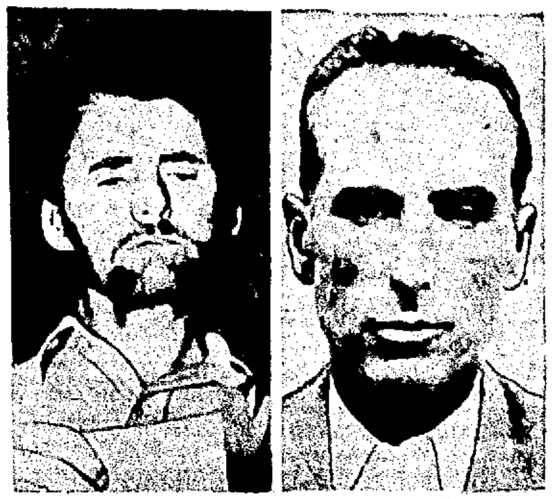
FILM COWBOYS IN ACTUAL KILLING



Real life gunplay has brought tragedy to these cowboy movie actors—death for John Tyke, 45, western film bit player, and jail for his slayer and one-time pal, Jerome (Blackjack) Ward, also a player in westerns. After the shooting Ward told police he shot Tyke on a Hollywood street after Tyke had repeatedly threatened his life and called him "names." Ward is shown left above, wearing a beard grown for film purposes. Tyke is at right. — (International Illustrated News Phonephoto) weakened France during the war; the great offensive launched in order to expel the German army had cruelly decimated a generation of Frenchmen; the devastation by the great battles in this region had imposed a very costly reconstruction upon the French nation.

France's Position

Thus, because France had been invaded, the French nation was committed to obtaining tangible guaranties that the invasion would not be repeated. Because the invasion of France, as a result of the German violation of Belgian neutrality, had caused such losses of men and of property, the French nation was committed to the policy of weakening and of impoverishing her intrinsically more numerous and more powerful neighbor.

These facts demonstrate the proposition, it seems to me, that the character of the peace was controlled by the strategical consequences of the war itself. The statesmen who met in Paris at the end of 1918 had to begin with the situation which had resulted from the four years of war. They could not reconstruct the world that had existed before 1914. They could not build a better world upon the foundations that had existed before 1914. Those foundations had been destroyed. They could not build the world they might have liked to have built in 1919.

They had to make a peace in the devastated, dislocated, and exhausted Europe of 1919, and they had to make that peace in the great region from the Rhine to the Urals, where, though the Allies had as victors a high prestige, they had nothing resembling complete power and full authority. For the Russian, the Austrian and the German power was demolished, and in 1919 there was throughout the region no power to replace it.

This teaches us, I believe, that the character of the settlement in a great war is shaped not at the eventual peace conference but by the war itself.

I DON'T GET ALL THIS— FIRST, YOU SAY THAT I CAN HELP YOU CRASH HIGH SOCIETY—ME, A WAITRESS! I HUMOR YOU, AND SAY OK FOR OLD TIME'S SAKE, THEN YOU CALL ME LADY GOOBER! WHAT'S THAT MEAN?
Y-YOU CAN'T LET ME DOWN—OH, PLEASE, MAZIE, DEAREST—
YOU'VE GOT TO PRETEND YOU ARE A LADY— JUST FOR BABY'S PARTY—
YOU LISTEN TO ME, HORTENSE FLEECER! I'VE BEEN A LADY ALL MY LIFE! I DON'T LIKE YOUR ASPERSIONS!
NO-NO-NO! YOU DON'T UNDERSTAND—I WILL PRESENT YOU AS THE WIFE OF A LORD—A EUROPEAN NOBLEMAN—SEE?

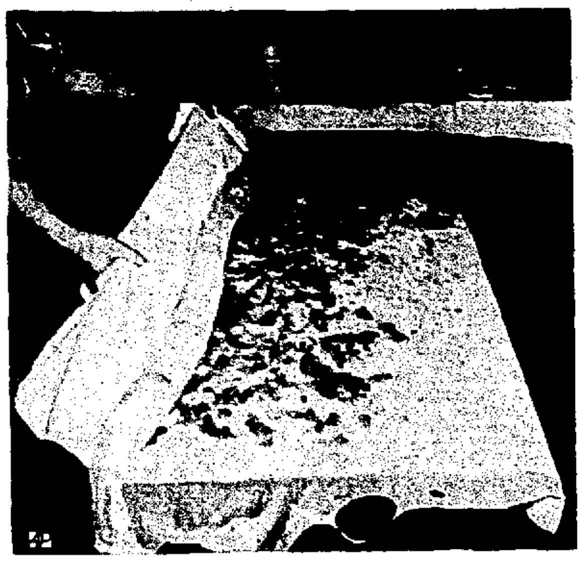
Refugees Chant "Yankee Doodle" To Mrs. Deutsch's Apfel Strudel

MRS. DEUTSCH starts compounding the dough that will become the feathery layers of goodness in a strudel.

AFTER IT'S KNEADED and rolled, she stretches it with her hands into a gossamer sheet, five feet by three . . .



SPREADING apples, raisins, nutmeats and sugar over two-thirds of the white dough, she rolls it, with the aid of tablecloth, into a long tube, cuts the tube into sections and bakes them in a hot oven a half to three quarters of an hour.

WEST BRANCH, Ia.—German and Austrian refugees who came to the Scattergood hostel here to escape Nazi prosecution gather around the dinner table with comments that might be translated into "Um . . yummy" when Mrs. Regina Deutsch prepares her famous Apfel Strudel from plenty of good American butter, flour, sugar, eggs and apples.

Mrs. Deutsch used to win prizes in strudel competition in Austria with her recipe. Properly rolled and kneaded, the dough will stretch into an almost gossamer layer, five feet in length, three in width. Have to be careful not to tear it, though. With the filling of apples, sugar, bread crumbs, raisins and chopped nuts spread thinly and rolled like a jelly roll, they're cut into convenient lengths, baked in a hot oven for half to three-quarters of an hour. Result—a new conception of refugee life.

Apfel Strudel Dough

Two cups flour, ½ cup lukewarm water, 1 tablespoonful olive oil, 1 egg, pinch of salt.

Heap flour on mixing board, making hole in center of mound. To lukewarm water add olive oil, salt and egg. Mix with knife, pour mixture into flour slowly, working it very soft with a knife. Knead dough with hands until smooth, turn out on floured board. Cover dough with warmed dish, let set at least half an hour.

Prepare a table with clean tablecloth powdered with flour. Put dough on middle of cloth and roll it carefully with rolling pin. Brush dough with more oil, pull with hands until it is tissue thin. Cut away thick dough at edges.

Apfel Strudel Filling

Ten tablespoons butter, ½ cup white bread crumbs, 3 pounds apples, ½ cup sugar, 1-3 cup raisins, ½ cup chopped nuts (almonds best).

Spread filling over two-thirds of the dough's surface, leaving one-third of the surface uncovered at the other edge. Dip melted butter on the uncovered part of the dough and roll the strudel, as you would a jelly roll, toward uncovered third of dough. Brush the strudel with butter, cut into convenient lengths and place them on a greased tray. Bake them in a moderate oven for one-half to three-quarters of an hour.

A SPAGHETTI DISH THAT'S NEW, SPICY

Chicken Liver Combination Almost Makes a Meal.

A spicy dish of spaghetti and chicken livers almost makes a meal. It is made with a clove of garlic, two and one-half cups canned tomatoes, two teaspoons celery salt, teaspoon each sugar, cinnamon and ginger, one-eighth teaspoon thyme, teaspoon cloves, dash of cayenne, one large onion, chopped; one cup beef consomme, one cup cut-up chicken livers, one and one-half tablespoons flour, one cup mushrooms, spaghetti and Parmesan cheese. Mash the garlic clove in a good-sized saucepan and add tomatoes, celery, salt, sugar, cinnamon, cloves, ginger, thyme, cayenne pepper and the onion. Allow to simmer for 30 minutes. Then add beef consomme. While this is cooking, melt the butter in a skillet and saute the chicken livers in this. Then add the flour and mushrooms. Pour the contents of the skillet in with the tomato sauce and simmer 15 minutes longer. Mix thoroughly with the spaghetti, which has been cooked until tender, in four quarts of water containing a tablespoon of salt. Serve with Parmesan cheese. A green salad balances this hearty dish.

For Escalloped Onions and Cheese take two cups small boiled onions, four tablespoons each butter and flour, two cups milk, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon celery salt, teaspoon prepared mustard and one-half cup cheese, cut fine. Melt butter in top of double boiler. Add flour and blend. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Add seasonings and cheese and cook until creamy, stirring constantly. Place cooked onions in buttered baking dish, pour over sauce and bake 20 minutes in moderate oven.

They Add Zest to Meal

Spanish Potatoes will add zest to any meal. To make this dish use two tablespoons each butter and flour, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one-half teaspoon dry mustard, two cups milk, four cups cold boiled potatoes, diced; teaspoon paprika, four tablespoons chopped green pepper, three tablespoons chopped pimento, three tablespoons canned tomatoes (drained), two tablespoons chopped onion. Make cream sauce of butter, flour, salt, pepper and mustard, gradually adding milk. To well-blended sauce add potatoes and paprika. Heat through and add chopped vegetables and tomatoes. Heat again.

There have been several requests for a Welsh Rarebit recipe, so here goes with our favorite. Use two tablespoons butter, tablespoon flour, cup of milk, one-half teaspoon salt, dash of black pepper, dash of cayenne pepper, one-half teaspoon paprika, one-half cup grated cheese, teaspoon prepared mustard and one egg. Melt butter and add flour. Mix thoroughly and add milk, salt, pepper, cayenne and paprika. Cook over hot water until thick and add the cheese. When cheese is melted, add the egg, which has been well beaten with the prepared mustard. Cook a minute longer and serve on hot buttered crackers or on toast points.

SOMETHING EXTRA

Desserts and salads prepared in ring molds may be made more attractive by whipping half of the gelatin, either alone or with egg white, depending on the dish. The frothy mixture may be poured over the firm gelatin in the mold. For fruit salad or dessert, mold the whipped gelatin, and chop clear gelatin, using it as a garnish over the top of fruit.

EMERGENCY SYRUP

What, no syrup for those Sunday morning "hot cakes?" Get busy with that shiny aluminum griddle and surprise the family with a delicious syrup made by boiling together two cups pineapple juice, two cups light brown sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt and two tablespoons butter for 10 minutes.

LACE PROTECTION

To keep fine laces or embroidery from becoming yellowed while stored, place between sheets of rather dark blue tissue paper. Wrap all in a large piece of blue tissue and tie up so that no light penetrates.

HANDY REMINDERS

Soaking clothes to be laundered overnight saves energy and the clothing because you don't have to rub them so hard. Cover the clothes with warm soapy water and cover the tub with a lid or paper to keep in the steam. Next morning, drain and rinse the clothes, then put through the regular laundry process.

Here is a grand spread for hot waffles or pancakes: Beat half a cup of butter until soft, mix in 1 cup dark brown sugar and beat thoroughly. Then add 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons orange juice, ½ teaspoon grated orange rind and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Chill and serve.

Try this for removing stubborn lipstick stains from linens: Rub soap into the stain, let it stand an hour or so, then wash the garment in the usual way. If the stain still remains sponge it with hydrogen peroxide and rinse at once in cold water.

If your leather handbag looks little the worse for wear, freshen it by rubbing it thoroughly with 2 tablespoons white petroleum jelly and ½ teaspoon glycerine. After 2 hours rub well with a soft cloth to polish the bag.

To make a fluffy pie crust do not cut the flour and fat too fine—about the size of a small pea is fine enough. To glaze the top of a two-crust pie, spread a little egg white, beaten until slightly foamy, over it.

Electricians have cooked a ham in a radio frequency field in 40 minutes compared with four to six hours required for steam cooking.

FAVORITE RECIPES OF FAMOUS SINGER

Elizabeth Rethberg Is Recognized Food Expert.

One subject of conversation that continues with unflagging zest at all times is food and its preparation. More than once what we have thought to be a solemn conversation on world affairs between important persons has turned out to be an argument as to relative excellence of a restaurant or a dish. We have found that career women and musicians are most enthusiastic and always have the best recipes.

One of our favorite food experts is the talented Elizabeth Rethberg, opera singer.

At all of Mme. Rethberg's meals, a salad consisting of chopped vegetables—carrots, green peppers, lettuce, tomatoes and fresh peas—is served.

An Irish stew is Mme. Rethberg's favorite dish. To make it, divide about four pounds neck of mutton into eight or 10 trimmed chops, paring away all excess fat and rough bone. Season plentifully with pepper and moderately with salt. Place the chops in a deep saucepan with sufficient water to cover. Add eight good-sized onions, put the lid on, and set on the fire to stew gently for 30 minutes. The stew must then be removed from the fire, the liquor poured into a bowl, and, after being freed from all fat (this is essential), is poured back on the chops. Add a dozen peeled potatoes and a pint of good stock or gravy, or a like quantity of water. Boil gently for about 45 minutes. To serve, put the potatoes in the center of the dish, arrange the cutlets neatly around them and pour the sauce and onions over all. Serve very hot.

Apple Sauce

Apple sauce is made in a different way in the Rethberg household. It's used as a main dish embellishment and as a dessert, with cream. To every pound of apples, allow two tablespoons of butter, and not quite a tablespoon of water. Peel, core and slice the apples, put in a saucepan with the other ingredients and simmer till tender.

An American version of that old English dish, mince pie, is another favorite dish with the singer. Make a mixture of finely-chopped suet, currants, raisins, stoned and quartered, also peeled and cored chopped apples, powdered sugar, one-half pound sultana raisins, four ounces mixed candied peel, finely shredded, one lemon, a little cinnamon, mace and grated nutmeg. The lemon should be pared and the rind boiled until tender, then rubbed through a sieve and mixed in a bowl with all the other ingredients. Put in a jar with an air-tight lid and let stand several days before using, to assure best results.

TRY THIS APPLE PIE

The next time that can of hasty pastry mix comes out for an apple pie, try soaking the apples in fresh [illegible] orange juice, then bake as usual, adding a little of the orange juice to the filling. O my, what pie.

Some War Menus

By The Associated Press

LONDON—These typical day's menus show what women serving in Britain's wartime auxiliary forces get to eat:

Auxiliary Air Force

BREAKFAST—cereal and milk, pork sausages and fried bread, butter, bread, marmalade, tea.

DINNER—steak and kidney pie, mashed potatoes, swedes, peas, macaroni pudding, oranges.

TEA—fried liver and bacon, bread, butter, jam, cake, tea.

SUPPER—meat pies with gravy, bread, margaraine, tea.

Auxiliary Territorial Service

BREAKFAST—bacon and eggs, bread, margarine, tea.

DINNER—roast beef and yorkshire pudding, potatoes, cabbage, steamed lemon pudding, bread.

TEA—sardines, bread, butter, jam, cake, tea.

SUPPER—curried eggs, bread, margarine, cocoa or coffee.

Two Suggestions That May Help Plan Desserts

Orange Jelly

Benefits of fresh citrus juices need not be restricted to breakfast. Reasonable prices now make it possible to plunge a bit and serve a gelatin that does not depend on artificial flavor and coloring. The already-prepared orange gelatin also may be made with part fresh orange juice substituted for the water specified.

Excellent for youngsters is this one, and a mold of jelly will be firm enough to go into the lunch-box:

Two tablespoons gelatin, one-half cup cold water, one cup sugar, one-fourth cup lemon juice, one and three-fourth cups orange juice, one and one-half cups boiling water, dash salt.

Soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Add boiling water, salt and sugar and stir until dissolved. Add well-strained fresh fruit juices. Pour into individual molds or ring mold and chill until set. Serve with whipped cream, or with a soft custard made with egg yolks.

Pineapple Pie

Easy to make and lovely to look at is this one: Two cups sugar, three egg whites, one No. 2 can crushed pineapple.

Cook pineapple and one cup sugar slowly for seven minutes. Cool. Drain off excess juice. Beat egg whites very stiff, add remaining sugar gradually and beat thoroughly. Slowly add drained, cooked pineapple, and beat five minutes with rotary beater. Turn into baked pastry shell, or individual tart shells. Swirl meringue on top and brown delicately in 400 degree oven four minutes. Cool. Serve plain or with sweetend, flavored whipped cream.

CHEESE ECONOMY

If you serve a lot of cheese in your family it pays to buy it a pound or more at a time. Keep it well wrapped in waxed paper and sotre it in the refrigerator. It will stay fresh for a long time.

MARKET RALLY ATTEMPT FAILS

Little Movement Shown in Either Direction, However; Bonds Irregular.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 26—The stock market struggled against downward tendencies today but failed to make much headway in either direction.

Among issues declining were Allied Chemical, Eastman, Westinghouse, Caterpillar, Union Carbide, United Aircraft and Southern Railway. Favored for a time were U. S. Steel, Harvester, International Paper preferred, General Electric and American Telephone.

Bonds and commodities shaded off a bit in irregular fashion. Foreign markets showed steadying signs, gaining slightly in closing deals.

Because of the late 1939 expansion in rural trade, "standard business trends" predicted a 10 per cent improvement in the first half of this year compared with the like period last year in the business of mail order and general trade sales to the farming areas.

TWO BUCYRUS HOSPITAL NURSES HURT IN ACCIDENT

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Feb. 26—Two night nurses at Bucyrus City hospital, Mrs. Martha Frost and Miss Dorothy Rothschild, both of New Washington, were injured in an automobile collision last night on their way to work. The accident occurred at 6:15 two miles east of Chatfield when their westbound car and a car traveling north, driven by Charles Bordner of Tiro, collided at an intersection. The nurses' car went into the ditch.

Mrs. Frost suffered a slight brain concussion, head and leg injuries. Her condition was reported to be good today by attendants at City hospital. Miss Rothschild was released after receiving treatment for injuries to her knees. Mr. Bordner, his daughter Dorothy and Germaine Steinmetz, passengers, were unhurt.

GRANGE TO MEET

A talk on "Americanism" by Clyde Ferrey, principal of Grand Prairie school, will be given at a meeting of Grand Prairie grange Tuesday night at 8 at the school.

To prevent a taxicab driver giving free rides a New York man has invented a device that makes it impossible for him to shift his gears into high unless the rear passenger seat is occupied and the meter operating.

Boston Wool

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Feb. 26—Manufacturers and top makers were showing little interest in wool today. New Arizona wools recently purchased in the country were being offered in Boston at around 85 cents, scoured basis, delivered to mills, but as yet no takers have been reported. Recent dealers purchases in Arizona were at estimated scoured basis prices ranging 82-85 cents landed at Boston.

PROSPECTS OF RAIN SENDS WHEAT DOWN

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 26—Prospects of more wet weather in the grain belt and increased marketings of old wheat coincident with liquidation of government loans helped to depress wheat prices today.

Quotations tumbled about two cents a bushel at times to the lowest level in a week.

Peace talk coming from Europe in connection with progress of the Welles mission also attracted attention. A private estimate of the Australian wheat crop was raised.

There was a sharp increase in wheat receipts at principal terminal markets. The government has announced loans on 1939 wheat will expire April 30.

PASTORS PLAN JOINT CAMPAIGN FOR 1941

Arrangements for Third Annual Event Made.

A union evangelistic church campaign will be held in Marion in 1941, it was decided at a meeting of pastors this morning at Epworth Methodist church.

Date of the third annual campaign was not set, but it was decided to follow the subscription plan of finance which has proven successful for the last two years.

Dr. Harry L. Bell of Central Christian church was named chairman of the union service group, succeeding Rev. J. A. Carriker of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church.

Rev. Henry Maag of Prospect Street Methodist church was elected treasurer and Rev. E. E. Overmyer of Oakland Evangelical church was elected secretary.

Rev. Carriker gave a short talk sketching highlights of the campaign which closed this week and expressing his appreciation of the spirit of the meetings.

SPARE FARM HOURS CAN BE WELL USED

Knox Co. Man Lists Improvements Made in Leisure

COLUMBUS, O.—Some of the time saved by modern farm machinery can be advantageously used to improve living conditions and also reduce the costs of repairing or building homes or buildings on farms, in the opinion of George C. McClelland of Fredericktown.

Mr. McClelland says that lumber produced on the farm and the skills possessed by rural people in the neighborhood will reduce building costs and also will make possible the building of homes which reflect the desires of the family. This Knox county farmer has built a modern home and is remodeling a tenant house.

Many Types Used

The McClelland home has poplar siding, red oak flooring, gum and basswood sheeting and subflooring, and beech and maple framing. The interior finish was cut from timber which Mr. McClelland says no buyer would even consider purchasing.

Two rooms in the house have white ash finish, two black walnut, two red oak, one wild cherry, and one Kentucky coffee tree. All this material was cut from timber grown in protected woodlots. Five thousand forest trees have been planted on the farm in recent years.

As an illustration of the use of neighborhood skills, Mr. McClelland cites the building of the community grange hall. Material for the basement came from a mausoleum donated by the cemetery association and wrecked by members of the organization.

One Man Hired

One carpenter was hired to supervise the building operations and all other work was done by members of the group. The finished building never has been haunted by debt or by the spirits of old neighbors whose names are on the bottom of the marble slabs in the floor.

The plastering in the grange hall was done by a farmer, and the other members of the grange cribbed his corn in a two-day husking bee. Mr. McClelland claims such pooling of resources helps create neighborliness at the same time it reduces community and personal expense.

MAN FINED ON CHARGE OF DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Arthur Moore, 20, of 537 Silver street was arrested by police on an intoxication and disorderly conduct charge following an altercation at his home yesterday afternoon. Two other persons, a 16-year-old East Side girl and a 23-year-old West Side man, also were arrested and were held for investigation today.

Moore pleaded guilty before Municipal Judge Hazen this morning and was fined $25 and costs. The girl was taken to the county detention home and was to appear before Juvenile Judge Gast this afternoon.

GIRL SCOUTS MAKE PLANS FOR ANNUAL COOKIE SALE

Plans were discussed for the annual Girl Scout cookie sale to be held in the spring at a meeting of the junior cookie committee Saturday in the Girl Scout office.

March 27 was the date chosen for launching the sale and a goal of 3,000 boxes was set. Last year the scouts sold 2,586 boxes.

Funds realized by the scouts in their cookie sale are used to finance their stay at Camp John Owens in August and also to finance the sending of Girl Scout leaders to Camp Ledgewood at Akron for training. The goal this year is to have more girls enrolled at Camp Owens.

Mrs. Clifford Howser and Mrs. Richard Myers are co-chairmen for the sale. Refreshments were served.

The adult cookie committee will meet within the next two weeks to go over plans of the junior committee and make final arrangements.

GUEST SPEAKERS ON THIS WEEK'S CLUB PROGRAMS

Guest speakers will appear before Rotary and Kiwanis clubs at weekly luncheons this week. Work of the Girl Reserves in Marion will be presented to Rotarians Tuesday noon at Hotel Harding by two members of the organization at Thomas A. Edison Junior High school. Their talks will be in observance of Girl Reserve week. In keeping with the observance of the thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of Rotary International and the eighteenth anniversary of the Marion club, the secretary, Earl N. Hale, will review some of the highlights of the local club.

L. F. Livingston, manager of the agricultural extension division of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., will speak to the Kiwanis club members Thursday noon at Hotel Marion. He will discuss the relations of industry and agriculture and the possibilities in farm crops as raw material sources for the factories of the nation. Each club member will take a farmer as a guest. Mr. Livingston's present tour is sponsored by the New York Central railroad.

Potatoes Free Of Disease Developed in Western Area

By The Associated Press

CUSTER, Wash.—A new Northwest Washington farm industry—the growing of certified, disease-free seed potatoes — attained its commercial majority recently with shipment to Argentina of 41,950 crates of White Rose seed stock from 700 acres of Whatcom and Skagit county land.

The 32 growers also planned to ship 50 carloads to California, 26 cars to Alabama and other carloads to Oregon, Idaho and Montana.

The crop and the industry stem directly from two burlap bags of White Rose seed spuds Oscar Ebe tried out on his farm near here nine seasons ago.

He got them from Minnesota, and used the unit planting system—quartering each potato and yanking out all four hills if one quarter showed disease. The first season his plants were 35 per cent diseased. The second, using only the disease-free stock for seed, he cut disease down to 7 per cent. That was all the encouragement Ebe and his neighbors needed.

They obtained some of his stock and started in a small way. As the demand grew, they increased their acreage until it become a major enterprise with 32 of them.

The demand from California and South America alone puts it on what promises to be a permanent basis, said Louis King, county farm agent.

Most of the plantings are on leased pasture land, rich in humus and free of disease. Growers use 1,000 pounds of standard commercial fertilizer and 10 pounds of borax per acre.

But does it pay?

King found growers figure a $100 per acre growing cost. The yield averages six to seven tons per acre, running about 70 per cent No. 1 grade stock. The Argentine contract paid them $23 per ton for No. 1's and $18 a ton for No. 2's.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER HELD BY MUSICIANS

20th Year of Local Organization Celebrated.

A dinner for members and guests of Marion Local No. 531, American Federation of Musicians, last night at Hotel Harding celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the institution of the local. Covers were laid for 45 and decorations included a lighted anniversary cake.

Present were several charter members and Henry Pfitzenmayer of Cleveland, traveling representative of the International federation. Charter members present were Jess Dowler, Carroll W. Davidson, Bertram D. Myers, Oscar Gast and Mrs. Fanny Benson. William Dowler, also a charter member, was unable to be present because of illness in his family.

Dale Flanagan presided as master of ceremonies and the dinner program opened with group singing. Talks were given by Jess Dowler, Mr. Davidson, Judge Gast and Mr. Myers, and a condensed history of the local was given by Mrs. Benson. Mr. Pfitzenmayer talked on the national federation, giving a history of its beginning and its activities to date. Entertainment included two dance numbers by Miss Jayne Melby, accompanied at the piano by Bob Smith.

Arrangements for the dinner were in charge of Bob McMahon and Richard Myers. Officers of the local which has a membership of Paul Saltz, vice president, and Mrs. Benson, secretary-treasurer.

VOLUNTEERS AID GRANGE

Easy To Build or Repair a Hall When No Labor Costs.

Grange hall projects are frequently carried through successfully because of volunteer labor given by members toward the construction of the building. The same also applies to repairs when needed and a recent illustration of this sort is reported from Hemlock Grange, located in the town of Portland, Conn. Complete renovation of the hall property has just been wrought without a single penny of expenditure necessary for the labor part of the job. All the latter was given by the members and they not only achieved splendid results but had lots of fun while doing it. On a single occasion 36 members of Hemlock Grange were hard at work on the job and their activities included carpentry, painting, masonry, plumbing and electrical work.

Came Springtime

SPRING comes early for warriors. It is recalled that the spring offensive of the World war never waited for the first crocus, but got under way soon after the middle of February. Feb. 21, 1916, marked beginning of the drive on Verdun. Signs multiply that vernal activities in Europe's newest war are beginning now.

On sea and on land events are being reported that fit into the scheme of preparations for big things to come. There are political and military stirrings in the Balkans and the near east. Naval warfare has been intensified, with Britain seeming to be more willing and able to fight back than it was during last fall and winter.

Most interesting evidence to this effect is the report of a Franco-British patrol in the Barents sea, inside the arctic circle off Murmansk. This is Russian naval territory; Murmansk is a Russian port. Russia is not in the war against the allies, but if the patrol means what it seems to mean as a sign of military springtime the Soviet is facing a showdown on assistance to Germany via Murmansk.

The Barents sea, at the top of Europe, is a potential scene of trouble in the fight for control of the seas as surely as is the Mediterranean, at the bottom.

A Noise Offstage

NO PILLOW fight ever was more inconclusive than the struggle for convention delegates in the 1936 presidential primary. The Democratic primaries meant nothing at all, because President Roosevelt had the nomination in the bag. The Republican primaries merely proved that Sen. Borah lacked support, without indicating who could claim support.

Alfred M. Landon picked up 88 delegates in four states. Sen. Borah gathered 68 in seven states. Col. Knox equipped himself with 66 and Robert A. Taft, by virtue of being Ohio's favorite son, went to the convention with 47—a total of 269 instructed delegates (some of them dubious about their instruction) in a total of 1,003. By the time the first ballot was taken, despite absence of instruction, Landon received 984 votes, Borah 19.

It's hard to take the 1940 primaries seriously in the light of what happened in 1936 and in the knowledge that politicians haven't the slightest intention of taking them seriously either. The weather is 10 times more important—by conservative estimate.

Picket Pickle

WHEN someone has time to figure it all out there's a book to be written on picketing as practiced in the turbulent thirties. It will take a lot of time to figure it out, though. For instance—

Associated Press reports that in Washington an A. F. L. painters union picketed a hat store where a C. I. O. union had done a painting job. To get even, the C. I. O. union picketed a department store next door where an A. F. L. union had done a rebuilding job. Whereupon, the department store owner hired a picket to picket the C. I. O. picket, the hat store proprietor was told the A. F. L. picket would stay on the job till the C. I. O. did the paint job over again and everything was deadlocked.

The A. F. L. picket gets paid $1.58 an hour, while the C. I. O. picket gets paid 65 cents, which is what the department store owner's picket is getting. It looks as though the pickets now should picket the pickets to protect the prosperity and prestige of the pickets.

Our Representative Democracy

FIRST purpose of a census in the United States is to determine the basis of representation in the lower house of congress. Everything else is incidental. The Constitution mentions nothing else.

Yet, oddly in view of so much devotion to the advantages of representative democracy, reapportionment of legislators following the 1940 census is far from certain, despite a law passed in 1929 making reapportionment mandatory and automatic. The law recognized that some congressmen can be depended on to do nothing hurtful to their political interests; e.g., not to reapportion the house unless forced to do so. Between 1910 and 1930 no reapportionment was made.

However, by spreading a legal net to keep such congressmen in line the law's framers unwittingly outwitted themselves. They provided that the President must submit a new basis of apportionment to congress within one week of "the second regular session" of each congress after the 71st. That would have been some time next December, as matters stood in 1929. But in 1933 the "lame duck" amendment to the Constitution caused "the second regular session of the 76th congress" to open on Jan. 3, instead of next December. The census had not been taken. The President was unable to comply and reapportionment has lapsed by default. This hardly seems to be the "perfection of reason" that is supposed to be the law. Something better is expected of the congressional lawyers by their clients.

News Behind the News

U. S., British Military Men Continue To Work in Close Harmony.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—Urgently and with military secrecy a band of U. S. navy air authorities has been organized here to inspect sites for temporary seaplane depots in Britain's Bahamas. They expect to fly over the smaller islands and pick out one or two bays where fuel and food could be stored for their planes nearer the 300 mile neutrality patrol zone line than the Florida bases. Britain's admiralty apparently has given permission for the inspection.

Paul Mallon

This shows how closely Washington and London sometimes work (as in the joint air use of three South Pacific island seaplane landing sites) while sharply arguing diplomatic differences in public.

Third Term Talk

Washington hostesses can have a tea party without tea, but not without the latest third term lowdown from the White House. Such stories as relate what Mrs. Roosevelt has ordered to be done about packing the valuable china next December are essentials at all social events. All such tales so far reported are as worthless as the most studied computations of the Democratic leaders in congress.

A new analytical prophecy, better than these, is being offered by a presidential righthand man who has discussed administrative problems with FDR continuously for months. His most authoritative view is:

The President has not decided, is inclined not to try it because he foresees four years more of domestic dogfighting without results, thinks he could get it, would take it only by overwhelming popular acclaim, is postponing a decision until his peace salesman, Sumner Welles, returns from Europe to recite the chances for his peace hopes, and for big spring offensives which may cast a graver outlook on the world situation.

This explanation is straight and sincere, and dovetails best with the known facts.

Soft Pedal

Business is certainly safe from further reform for a while. A determined quietude envelopes the reform wing of the administration. It has come to the surface noticeably within the national economic committee, where the socially minded leaders, like Henderson and Lubin, have agreed and even urged closing down the inquiry and delaying of reports until next year. Intra-committee talk is conciliatory toward the Investment Bankers association and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., object of SEC wrath.

Political consideration of the campaign has brought almost universal application of the soft pedal.

Hull Tactics

State Secretary Hull is not withdrawing from the presidential campaign "for personal reasons," as certain New Dealists are saying. His campaign associates have been informed directly that he will take some public step in the matter as soon as his trade treaty is settled in congress. By that time, the Hull promoters have reason to expect, Mr. Roosevelt will have declared himself.

He is the man on horseback if he comes out of that scrap with a victory.

Trade Treaty

Lately published polls suggest the trade treaty program will squeeze through the senate as well as the house, but 60 days back the administration did not have one-half the affirmative votes now being registered in the polls. Strangely the administration does not appear to have wielded the ferrule and blackjack as vigorously as usual to get the wayward Democrats in line. Mr. Hull's fix-men worked mainly through organizations, such as the American Farm Bureau Federation, whose powerful lobby did their work effectively.

The Busy Gannetts

He Budgets His Time, She Likes To Cook for Family.

FRANK GANNETT & FRIEND . . . Serious Discussion?

MRS. GANNETT . . . ..another outlet for her energy.

This is the sixth in a series of weekly articles telling you about the families of possible candidates for President of the United States.

By FRED E. STOUTEN
Associated Press Feature Service

ROCHESTER, N. Y. Feb. 26—A curious Florida neighbor of the Frank E. Gannetts once asked the young Gannett daughter, Sally, "Where is your daddy these days, we never see him any more."

"My daddy," replied Sally, "is on Pullman cars all the time, and when he isn't on Pullman cars, he's tired."

Sally is older now and her daddy has an airplane to help him with some of the 75,000 miles he covers annually. But the situation is about the same. "I bought an airplane," says Gannett, "so I could get places faster and wouldn't be so tired and it seems I still am never home to see my family."

As a result the Gannetts are a group of individualists, each following his own bent. The head of the family budgets his hours so that he can find time away from newspaper-publishing and politics for walking, golfing, yachting, an occasional visit with his family, a jaunt down to his winter home at Miami Beach, or the papers and political-economic books he reads.

Mrs. Gannett, who studied dietetics at Cornell, puts her knowledge to work—when the family is together—by preparing meals herself. She even grows vegetables and herbs in a garden back of their elegant home in the suburbs of Rochester. As additional energy-outlets she entertains at home, spends time at their Florida place where she swims and golfs with Mr. Gannett, collects recordings of classical music, reads three books at a time.

Swing Addict

Seventeen-year-old Sally goes to school at Rosemary Hall, Greenwich, Conn., plays the piano, is a swing addict, swims, plays field hockey and basketball, holds the family ping-pong championship.

Dixon, the 11-year-old son, attends a private school near Rochester, plays the piano, too, thinks airplanes are swell, goes in for cold-weather sports, likes railroads and builds model planes. Some day he hopes to master the organ.

The circumstances of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Gannett might have been taken as a portent of what followed. On a blustery January day in 1920, the phone rang. Gannett picked up the receiver, heard his fiance, Caroline Werner, moan. "We can't get married tomorrow. I've got the flu." The next day, Gannett himself had caught the flu.

Miss Werner's mother at first considered a marriage by telephone—but she gave up in despair and allowed neighbors and friends to consume the roast quail she had prepared for the wedding feast.

Two months later, on March 25, the couple were married. Mrs. Gannett says that since then her husband has not had anything more serious than a cold.

Frank E. Gannett was an independent in politics in his younger days, but enrolled as a Democrat during his early business career. After graduating from Cornell, he went to the Philippines in 1899 as secretary to the chairman of the first United States Commission, Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman.

He returned to the United States shortly thereafter, spent a brief period on an Ithaca, N. Y. newspaper, then bought the interest in an Elmira newspaper which served as the nucleus of his present properties. Gannett came to Rochester in 1918 and expanded his holdings rapidly.

As he was a Democrat, former Governor Alfred E. Smith appointed him a member of the Finger Lakes Parks Commission in 1924. Four years later Gannett changed political affiliations and backed the candidacy of Herbert Hoover against Smith.

Visiting the president often, he supported Mr. Hoover again in the campaign against Franklin D. Roosevelt. For six months after Mr. Roosevelt entered the White House, Gannett backed his policies.

Then, he says, the alphabetical agencies began to appear and "John Maynard Keynes sold Roosevelt the spending idea. I parted with him."

Here's Personal Sketch of Gannett

Frank Ernest Gannett, whose activities in politics grew in direct ratio with the New Deal, now owns a newspaper whose editions he carried as a boy.

He was born of New England stock in Bristol, N. Y., near Rochester, on Sept. 15, 1876.

The Gannett Co., in which he owns all the common stock, publishes 19 papers in 15 cities, mostly in upstate New York.

The Gannett Co. preferred stock, largely owned by employes, met all dividends in full during the depression. His papers forego thousands of dollars in potential advertising revenue yearly by refusing liquor advertising.

Gannett is a trustee of Cornell University and Keuka College. He holds honorary membership in Phi Beta Kappa, and has five honorary degrees.

Today and Tomorrow

Peace Terms Believed Controlled More by Results of War Than by Conferences.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

IN THIS article I shall venture to draw upon the experience of 1914-'18 to demonstrate the proposition that the strategical results of a war determine the basic conditions of the ensuing peace: By the basic conditions of the ensuing peace I mean those accomplished facts, consequences of the war itself, which were unalterable by the statesmen who wrote the treaties of peace.

Walter Lippmann

Let us fix them in our minds:

1. The Russian military power had collapsed, the Czarist empire had been overthrown, Russia was prostrated by revolution and civil war. When the statesmen met in Paris in the winter of 1918 all Russian authority as a great power had broken down in the borderland from the Baltic Sea to the Black Sea and the Balkans. Finland, Esthonia, Latvia, Lithuania, White Russia, Western Ukrainia, Poland, Bessarabia had been broken loose by the German conquest, by the Russian collapse, by their own rebellions, and then by the German defeat. There was no central and dominating authority, Russian or German, in this whole region.

2. The Austro-Hungarian empire, which had maintained the political and economic unity of the peoples of the Danube Valley, was in ruins and had been dismembered before the peace conference met. The Czecho-Slovaks had been recognized as an ally before the conclusion of the war, and they were already de facto and de jure an independent state. Poland was already an independent state, sovereign though its boundaries were not fixed. The Southern Slavs were a recognized independent state with a recognized title to the province of Croatia. Hungary was torn by revolution, and in this state of military weakness lost Transylvania to an invading Rumanian army.

Imperial Unity Broken

Thus, as a result of the war, which had exhausted the Hapsburg empire, the imperial unity had broken down; as a measure *of war designed in the first in*stance to hasten the military collapse of Austria-Hungary, the Allies and the United States had made binding commitments to the Poles, the Czecho-Slovaks, the Jugo-slavs, and the Rumanians. These commitments inhibited them from restoring the political unity which the war had in fact destroyed.

3. The Turkish empire had collapsed as a result of military defeat, and its authority in the Moslem world from Syria to the Red Sea and the Persian Gulf was gone. This collapse had been promoted by the encouragement of an Arab rebellion and of a Zionist campaign: these two measures of war had involved somewhat con*tradictory* promises to the Palestinian Arabs and the Zionist Jews, and these commitments were an essential part of the situation already existing when the peace conference met.

4. The German colonies had been conquered during the war, some by France, some by Great Britain, some by the Union of South Africa, some by Australia, and some by Japan.

5. The exhaustion of Germany and the disintegration of her army made Germany impotent during the peace conference. The reason that Versailles was a dictated peace was that Germany was too weak to insist upon a negotiated peace.

6. The main theater of the western war was in the northern departments of France. The loss of this industrial region had

Charles Francis Coe is a big, faced, barrel-chested fellow, bluff and plenty two-fisted. It seems but yesterday that one of his favorite pastimes was barging around in New York cafe society popping belligerent tablehoppers on the whiskers. It was just a fad with Coe, which we presume he has permanently discarded since becoming a lawyer and a statesman.

In those days, Coe was strictly the man-about-town type, a dude in the matter of dress and a familiar figure along Broadway. He wined and dined himself well. HARDING DEBATERS IN TOURNEY EVENT

Complete Season's Schedule in Shelby Contest.

Harding High school debaters participated in a tournament Saturday at Shelby High school. Twenty-one schools entered "A" and "B" teams in four rounds of debates on the question of government ownership of railroads.

Marysville won the Class "A" tournament and Lima South and Shelby tied for second place. Lima South and Shelby tied for first place in the Class "B" rounds.

The Harding affirmative team, composed of Eugene Johnson and George Lane, debated Shelby, Melmore, Lima South and Canton McKinley. The negative team, Kathryn Stuckey and Philip Sansotta, debated Orrville, Lima South, Melmore and Shelby, winning from Orrville.

The Harding teams have now completed their out-of-town debates as scheduled. They have participated in five tournaments and have had a total of 40 debates with teams from all parts of Ohio.

Only one more debate is scheduled at home this season, according to Coach T. D. Bain. Within the next two weeks Marysville teams will come to Marion for a debate.

RUNAWAY BOY PICKED UP HERE, TAKEN HOME

Of the theater's 1,800 seats, 74 are the double type, room for two but no arm rest between. Since they take up only as much space as a seat and half of the ordinary type, they increase the capacity of the house. And for some logical reason they're the most popular seats in the theater.

PLAYS WITH MATCHES SETS FIRE TO CURTAINS

Approximately $20 damage resulted from a fire at the home of Mrs. Amy Sagachefd of 251 Uncapher avenue shortly before noon today when a child playing with matches set fire to a curtain in the dining room, firemen reported. The blaze was extinguished by firemen from the West Side station.

Firemen from the same station answered a call to the Charles Key home at 131 Lafayette street about 11 a. m. when neighbors saw auto exhaust smoke pouring from the Key garage and mistook it for smoke from a fire. The firemen discovered that Mr. Key was repairing his car and had the engine running.

PLANS SET FOR NEW WPA ADULT CLASSES

To Be Held in Home Economics, Art and Woodwork.

Plans to organize several adult education classes in home economics, art and woodwork were announced today by D. T. Mills, chairman of the Marion county WPA adult education program.

The classes, to be sponsored by the Marion Y. M. C. A. will begin Thursday and will be held at the Y.

Mrs. Ruth Uncapher Blair of 100 Tully street will be the instructor for classes in sewing, nutrition, preparation of foods, home management, pottery, rug and basket weaving, metal and glass etching, linoleum block printing, and puppet construction and operation.

Woodworking classes, which will be in charge of Harry Reynolds of 578 Ballentine avenue, will include blueprint reading and instruction in use of hand tools and machinery for working with wood and sheet metals.

The courses are open to all persons not in school over the age of 18, Mr. Mills announced. Classes are to be held at the Y each evening from Monday through Friday from 7 to 10 and on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 1 to 4. No charge is made for instruction.

Registrations are being taken at the Y.

Claud Smith

Plus Smith

Albert Raymond Boswell

By The Associated Press

Around Modale, Ia., Albert Raymond Boswell is known as one of the most enthusiastic, aggressive farmers in the vicinity. And around Shawnee, Okla., the Smith brothers, Claud and Plus, are numbered among the county's most successful agriculturists.

The three men are completely blind.

Claud, 57, and Plus, 50, have been sightless from birth. Their brother, Larry, 55, serves as "eyes" to them. "It would be simpler," says Larry, "to tell you the things they can't do. They build the fires, milk the cows, water the stock, gather the eggs, chop the wood and wash the dishes."

When Larry goes out in the fields he fixes the stew or the roast. Claud and Plus do the rest. One feels the clock's hands, and, when it's time, starts the fire. Larry, returning, finds the table set and the meal ready.

Know Lay of Land

Claud and Plus know every tree, rock and gully on their 70-acre farm. They are able to start and stop the tractor engine they use for power. Neither one has ever been to school but either can do sums in his head faster than most persons can on paper, according to Larry. When the Smiths raised cotton, Plus and Claud would go down the rows first, followed by Larry and their dad. "It would surprise you how clean they' pick," Larry recalls.

The Smiths' farm has never had a mortgage or delinquent tax against it. At community gatherings, the blind brothers are invariably asked to say a few words, which they do. They contributed toward construction of the nearby church and take part in its affairs.

An Expert At 17

As for Albert Raymond Boswell — this 17-year-old farmer husks corn, tends and milks five cows, feeds the chickens, joins the threshing crews on his father's 138-acre farm, takes a hand at dishwashing, dusting and other household chores. About the only thing he doesn't do is drive the tractor, but he does fuel it. He admits to being a pretty good mechanic. At present he's busy building a power take-off for a corn grinder.

Raymond's dog, Shep, is his constant companion and fellow cow-herder. In his spare time the boy plays the harmonica, listens to his battery-set radio, reads and writes in Braille.

2 KILLED, 2 WOUNDED IN AKRON SHOOTING

Ex-Husband Slays Children, Shoots Rival and Self.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Feb. 26—Angered by his divorced wife's refusal to take him back, Russell Faulk, 33, today shot and killed his two young children, Deputy Police Inspector Gilbert Mosely said, shot his former wife's escort, and critically wounded himself.

Dead were Warren Faulk, 7, and his sister, Mary Jane 2½. Faulk was unconscious with a bullet wound in the head, and Mrs. Faulk's companion, Frank Bender, 38, was reported in serious condition with a wound in the chest.

Mosely said the shooting occurred at the home of Faulk's former wife, Mrs. Floy Faulk, 26, and followed an argument last night at a dance hall.

"He fired without saying a word," Mrs. Faulk said. The first bullet struck Bender. "He threw me down," Mrs. Faulk related, "and pointed the gun at Warren." The boy threw up his hand, and the bullet grazed his arm before piercing his head. Faulk walked to a bedroom and shot his sleeping daughter, then turned the gun on himsef, Mrs. Faulk reported.

Bender drove to the police station where he collapsed. "I've been shot and there's a murder at 187 Wheeler street," he gasped.

Mosely said when he arrived, the boy was unconscious in a chair, Faulk was unconscious on the floor, and Mrs. Faulk and her mother were hysterical.

No charges were filed immediately, and because of Faulk's condition no guard was placed at his hospital room.

FOREST GLEN CLAIMS LISTED BY TRUSTEE

Bankruptcy Referee Prepares To Hear Objections.

Lists of claims filed in connection with the bankruptcy action of Forest Glen, Inc., parent company of three burial parks in Marion, Columbus and Springfield, were being prepared today for distribution to interested parties.

The announcement, made by Attorney Paul D. Smith of Marion, trustee for the Marion company, followed a meeting of creditors and lot owners Friday in common pleas courtroom under the direction of Walter S. Jackson of Lima, referee in bankruptcy.

The meeting was held "to get things moving again" in settlement of the affairs of Forest Glen, Inc., officials said.

After the lists of claims have been prepared and distributed by the attorney for the trustee, time will be permitted for filing of objections to the claims. Objections may be filed by the trustee, the bankrupt corporation or by other creditors.

A hearing on the claims objected to will be held later.

The courtroom was filled for Friday's session.

REA Brings New Outlook To Farm Homes in Ohio

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb 26—Electricity is giving a new outlook to farm life in Ohio.

The rural electrification administration reported that thousands of farm homes were benefitted by rapid expansion of the REA program in recent years.

The state, one of the first to enter REA's program, had 26 REA financed electric systems on Sept. 1, 1939, the report said. These systems had borrowed $12,021,023.

"On Dec. 31, 1934, just before REA was created," said the agency, "18.8 per cent of Ohio farms had electric service and the state ranked 19th in the country.

"On June 30, 1939, the percentage had risen to 41.8 per cent, an increase of 128.9 per cent in the number of electrified farms over the period, and the state had risen to 16th place.

"Each of these figures is substantially above the national average for the same date; at the end of 1934, only 10.9 per cent of American farms had electricity, and a 103.4 per cent increase brought the average up to 22.1 per cent on June 30, 1939."

The report showed that 110,000 farms had electric service on June 30, 1939. Before REA the number was 48,048 out of a total of 263,202 farms in the state.

REA has made service available to 27,500 consumers through 9,000 miles of lines. An additional 3,000 miles to serve 10,000 more farms are under construction, the report said, adding that REA development had played an important part in greater use of electricity on farms.

The report said that "while wholesale power rates in the state were among the highest in the nation a year ago, an examination of recent bills indicates that as a result of negotiations by REA and cooperative representatives, wholesale power rates have been brought down to some extent. Seven of the eight private utilities in Ohio furnishing power to REA systems have favorably revised their original contracts."

Placing Service Above Selling Caskets
So much stress has been laid upon caskets and prices that many people, and even some funeral establishments, seem to think that selling a casket is the most important thing a funeral director does.
With the Schaffner-Denzer organization the first considerations are care of the deceased and aiding the bereaved family. Our Funeral Home, complete equipment and staff services all aim toward these ends.
Evidently people appreciate that kind of service. An increasing number of families have been turning to this organization when funeral service is required.

New Recipes and Modern Methods

THE MARION STAR

Cooking School Special Section

VOL. LXIII, No. 77. Recipes, Latest Ideas in Modern Cooking and Housekeeping. Fifteenth Annual Cooking School Section, Marion, Ohio, Monday, February 26, 1940. Four School Sessions in Charge of Noted Cookery Specialist. TWELVE PAGES

COOKING SCHOOL OPENS TUESDAY

School Exhibits Special Feature

Interesting Attractions for Visitors Will Be Displays of Various Foods and Household Equipment on Floor of Auditorium.

"COME early and stay late" is sound advice for the hundreds of women in Marion and vicinity who will attend The Star's annual cooking school opening tomorrow.

The minutes before and after the regular school sessions can be put to profitable use by roaming among the booths and exhibits of the latest and best in household equipment.

For the last week or so The Star auditorium has been a veritable beehive of activity, as workmen labored to put the exhibits in shape for the opening session. The result is well worth the efforts.

The booths and exhibits will feature a wide variety of articles—food, silver and glassware, dairy products, kitchen equipment of all kinds, and even beverages, photography, modern bleaching materials, wallpaper and shoes.

Full Information

The housewife who visits all these displays will find herself well informed on what the modern woman of the home should know. On hand to explain the operation of the various equipment, even to the smallest gadget, will be competent representatives of the merchants sponsoring the booths.

In addition to the booths which will be on the floor of the auditorium, there will be a model kitchen, complete to the last detail, on the stage. The stage will also contain one of the latest model refrigerators and a display of modern gas ranges.

There will also be displasy of refrigerators and ranges on the floor.

Dining Room Exhibit

Another outstanding exhibit will be a model dining room display, which will include a complete suite of furniture with the table beautifully set with shining silver and glassware.

Summing it all up, the exhibit portion of the cooking school will embody not only all the latest developments in the business of running a home, but also all the well-established principles, used for years.

Altogether there will be nine or 10 different booths and displays on the floor, plus the stage exhibits.

They represent the best available and have been arranged solely for your benefit. So come early and stay late and look around to your heart's content.

250 in Rural Schools Study Home Courses

10 Boys at Pleasant Township School Among Groups Studying Cooking.

Lessons in cooking and other phases of homemaking are in the daily schedule of more than 250 girls and some 10 boys enrolled in home economics courses in the Marion county rural high schools.

At three schools, Pleasant, Prospect and LaRue, the course of study is carried out under the state Smith-Hughes program with lessons designed to provide vocational training in homemaking. In the other 11 schools, the course of study is more general and more elastic. All the schools in the county system have some type of domestic science instruction with the exception of Grand Prairie school and the one room schools in Marion township.

Probably the most unusual home economics class in the county is a class of boys at Pleasant township school who, according to their teacher, Miss Gladys Uncapher, take their cooking just as seriously as do the girls in her other classes.

Boys Like To Bake Cakes

"The boys especially like to bake cakes, probably because they get to eat the foods they prepare," Miss Uncapher explains.

Home economics courses occasionally are offered for boys at Prospect school but no boys are enrolled there this year.

Students at the three schools participating in the Smith-Hughes program study under the project plan, with each student taking a definite project to work on. A number of projects are offered such as a wardrobe project, a baking project and others in gardening, meal planning, child care, party planning and interior decorating.

The first principle of the Smith-Hughes courses is applying the classroom instruction to the students' life at home, so the boys and girls do much of their work at home. All of the Smith-Hughes courses are continued throughout the summer and the instructors visit each student regularly to examine the work that has been done.

Students enrolled in the courses study home economics for three years and have the option of continuing the course for the fourth year. Because of the wide scope of the project-study plan and because the instructors are employed for 12 months, the cost of the Smith-Hughes courses is slightly higher than those in the other schools. However, half of this cost is met by the state.

Select Projects

At the beginning of each school year the students outline projects which they will work on during the year and then adapt study and practice work to the projects. For example, if a girl chooses a baking project she will start by studying the basic principles of baking.

School Sponsors Express Thanks for the Recipes

The sponsors of the fifteenth annual cooking school, The Marion Star and a group of Marion merchants, take this opportunity to thank the housewives, school economics classes and others who contributed to this year's cooking school section issued today with The Marion Star.

The recipes are tasty, practical, appetizing and attractive, proving that so far as Marion, the county and adjoining vicinities are concerned, women are keenly aware of the important relation between appetite and the preparation of food.

The sponsors are positive that the recipes have been carefully tested and recommend them to the housewives of Marion and vicinity with the good wishes for success from the donors.

Because of the large number of recipes contributed it was impossible to include all of them in today's special cooking school section. Those omitted will appear soon in regular editions of The Star.

APPLE BUTTER SNACK

Apple butter as a filling for Graham crackers will make a good between-meal snack or a lunch box filler for the youngsters. Its healthful, too.

Trend Toward Simplicity in Table Service Shown in Store Displays

As in food so in table service—there's a trend nowadays towards simplicity.

Whether its silverware, glassware or china that the average housewife is buying, she's more likely to select a pattern with plain graceful lines than she would a few years ago. Certainly she will choose a less ornate design than her mother or her grandmother did.

Plated silver frequently sets the background for the complete table setting in many families and in this field dealers report that less ornate patterns are the most popular, partly because they better complement modernistic furnishings in the home and partly for utility reasons.

"You'd be surprised," one Marion dealer commented "how many women ask us if such-and-such a pattern is easy to clean. The time and effort required to clean a chest of silverware is an important problem for a great many housewives and it certainly is a question that many of them consider when buying."

Different With Sterling

This problem does not affect trends in sterling silver so much, he went on to say, for this reason: the average housewife who uses silverplate generally does her own housework while those who have large quantities of sterling generally have domestic help who do the work.

The same dealer pointed out eight patterns available in one of the best known lines of plated

Improvements for Kitchen Save Time and Labor

The kitchen, where the average woman spends a good part of her waking hours, is continually receiving the attention of invention-minded persons who in the last year or so have turned out a surprising number of valuable improvements.

New wrinkles in ranges, refrigerators, utensils and gadgets of all kinds serve to lighten the burden of womenfolk—saving them time and labor and making the kitchen a more enjoyable place. Marion stores are now featuring equipment embodying the latest improvements.

Consider the new ranges. Many are now equipped with a heat-resisting glass window in the oven door, such a convenience it seems odd that no one ever thought of it before. The housewife no longer has to open her oven to see how things are going inside and perhaps spoil the perfection of a meal by upsetting the interior temperature.

Conveniences on Ranges

Many ranges also have the divided cooking top which presents numerous advantages. Another new device is the visual cooking chart, built into the range for ready reference. By using the chart, the heat regulator and the automatic timer, a wife simply can't miss—if she has prepared her food correctly.

New this year also is the built-in flue, so constructed that the walls are not smoked up.

Other improvements, on the market for some time, include horizontally opening burners, close-set flames, extensive use of white trim, construction designed for easy cleaning and many others.

Refrigerator Improvements

The new refrigerators have been improved not only in appearance and general artistic design but also in engineering. Some have a system of humidity control, permitting more efficient refrigeration. Some models also are equipped with "window top" hydrators, a convenience to the busy housewife. Improvements in ice cube trays and releases have also been made.

Sealed construction of compressors makes for long life and economical operation in many models.

Another convenient development is illumination of cold control panels.

In addition to these there are also various changes in other parts—deeper and larger receptacles, changes in door hinges and addition of new styling.

A wide selection of models is available.

Tearless Onion Chopper

Then there are the gadgets, always indispensable for the modern housewife. Not the least of the newcomers is the "tearless" onion chopper, a device in which the onion is placed under cover while being macerated.

Probably the most outstanding development of recent months has been in glass kitchenware, built to endure a close-flame heat.

SYMBOLS USED WITH RECIPES

To prevent misunderstandings or mistakes in measurements in the use of recipes contributed to The Star's cooking school section today, the following list of symbols has been prepared to clarify abbreviations used in the recipes:

T (capital) — tablespoon;
t (small) or tsp.—teaspoon;
C or c — cup; sq. — square;
pt.—pint; qt.—quart.

TRY SPICED FRUIT PIE FOR GOOD WINTER DISH

Spiced fruit pie is a variation of a popular dish. It is a good winter dish for it substitutes dried fruits for fresh ones. Make it with two cups dried apricots or peaches, one and one-half cups water, one cup sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, teaspoon each cinnamon and butter, pastry for double crust (nine-inch pan). Rinse dried fruit and put through food chopper. Combine with water, sugar, salt, tapioca and spice. Bring to a boil and continue boiling two to three minutes, stirring to prevent scorching. Pour into pastry-lined pie pan, dot with butter, cover with top crust, and brush with milk. Bake in 450 degree F. oven for about 30 minutes. Six to eight portions.

COLD DAY DRINK

Grape juice flip is grand on a cold day after outdoor sports. This will serve four or so people: Simmer for 10 minutes, covered, 3 cups of grape juice, ½ cup orange juice, ¼ cup lemon juice, ½ cup water, 2 tablespoons bark cinnamon and 8 whole cloves. Strain and serve piping hot in mugs or thick tumblers.

LONGER RUG LIFE

It has been proved that thick resilient pads placed under rugs greatly lengthen the life of the rugs. The pads are not expensive, so it might be worth while to consider them when you get new rugs or carpets.

POPULAR INSTRUCTOR RETURNS TO MARION

MRS. V. ELSNER SMITH

Mrs. Smith, home economist and homemaking expert, who returns to Marion for her second annual cooking school Tuesday, was born in Wisconsin. Her home economics degree was received at Stout Institute, which was one of the first colleges in the United States that taught home economics exclusively to girls desiring to follow the field of teaching or dietetics. After teaching for a few years, this lecturer felt the need for more expression than the school room could give and that was the beginning of her lecture career.

Although one of the youngest women in her field, Mrs. Smith has had many years of experience. She could be considered internationally known, as her lecturing has not been confined to United States alone, but has conducted cooking schools in Honolulu, Hawaii and Halifax, Nova Scotia.

In discussing the subject of whether marriage and a career "mix," this lecturer has very definite ideas on the matter. She says if the career interferes with marriage, give it up.

Mrs. Smith is continually in demand to give talks to civic groups, Parent-Teacher associations, etc., on child feeding, balanced diets, and home management, in addition to her cooking school work.

Usherettes Will Perform Service Throughout Week

Women attending the fifteenth annual cooking school which opens Tuesday in the Star auditorium under sponsorship of The Marion Star and a group of Marion merchants need not be at a loss to know just where to look for the various exhibits, where to find seats, programs for the day and the scores of other timely helps that will make for a more enjoyable week.

The sponsors have attended to all this by having a corps of attractive usherettes on hand to answer all queries.

From the time the doors open at 12:30 p. m. and the lecture starts at 1:30 p. m. these usherettes will be available. As you enter the door they will present you with a program of the day's recipes which Mrs. V. Elsner Smith will demonstrate before your very eyes in her temporary kitchen and direct you to the various attractive booths. When it comes time for the question hour, and Mrs. Smith hopes there will be hundreds of them, they will collect the questions, and of course there will be scores of other duties which will keep them busy throughout the afternoon on each day of the school.

HIGHLIGHTS OF DAILY EVENTS

12:30 p. m.—Doors of The Marion Star auditorium open.

Usherettes on duty to distrbute daily programs, collect questions regarding the cooking school sessions and displays.

SPICED VINEGAR WILL PEP UP SALAD DRESSING

It is good to have something on the pantry shelf that adds zest and tang to salad dressings. Spiced vinegar is just the thing. It is made with one-fourth ounce each whole cloves, mace, allspice, pepper, celery seed and mustard seed, one quart good cider vinegar, tablespoon sugar, one bay leaf and one teaspoon salt. Place all ingredients in covered mason jar for two weeks. Strain before using.

Girls in St. Mary School Group Get Practical Household Training

Two very important household arts, cooking and sewing, are a part of the daily study program of 17 young women of the freshman class at St. Mary Parochial High school. Confining their activities along these lines to simple ideas and methods they have found the study interesting and profitable.

From aprons, dish towels and other articles to be used in the kitchen the girls have progressed to blouses and garments of the "dress up" bracket in their sewing classes.

At Community Center

At present cooking is receiving the major portion of the class attention, and practically every day finds the young women in the well-equipped kitchen at the Catholic Community Center trying some new dish or taking a second try at some particularly popular dish, with the hope of scoring a major success.

"Foods and Homemaking," by Carlotta Greer is the text book followed by the class. Simple dishes make up the practical course and more often than not the recipes are tried at home where they find a ready welcome. A study of foods, food values, balance, arrangement, table arrangements and decorations, the selection and serving of food and other matters pertaining to kitchen efficiency and charm have not been neglected in the class study.

Training in Sewing

A room in the school basement provides space for the sewing class, and here the pupils are started on the designing and making of garments. Elementary lessons are devoted to hand sewing and later the girls are permitted the use of a sewing machine.

This year marks the sixth for sewing classes and the fifth for the cooking course on the school course for girls.

Snickerdoodles

Two c flour, 1c sugar (light

An Expert Tells About Pomanders and Their Origin

What is a "Pomander"? The word crops up in the "Winter's Tale". In early Elizabethan days, fragrant pomander balls were far from trumperies, although some were elaborately ornamented with precious stones and pearls.

The early pomanders were carried as an antiseptic to smell in places where disease might be rampant, or in crowds where odors simply screamed imminent infection. Present-day tests have proved that certain essential oils used in the pomanders have properties fatal to disease bacteria. Among the oils were cinnamon, clove, sandal, cedar, lemon and jasmine, all commonly found in pomander balls.

Pomanders, or clove-stuck oranges, were revived in popularity this Christmas, and some specialty shops sold them at amazing prices, considering their humble ingredients. Orange pomanders will give forth their spicy orange scent year after year, particularly on a damp, muggy day.

And in addition to pleasing the nostrils, an orange pomander will perfume the linen and clothes closet, protecting clothing from moths. Making an orange pomander is a test of patience, for it cannot be hurried, says Rosetta E. Clarkson, in "Magic Gardens". Here are her instructions:

"Take a small orange with thin skin, which must be perfect, a box of whole cloves, about two and one-half hours of your time, and you will have achieved a result admired by all.

"If you want the orange especially pretty, use only the whole cloves—those with heads still on. Cover the whole fruit with cloves, first piercing the hole in the skin with a darning needle or pointed meat skewer, sticking them close

NEW SALAD FLAVOR

A banana of medium size, mashed and then whipped until fluffy, gives a new flavor and texture to a cup of boiled salad dressing or mayonnaise to be served with fruit salad.

AVOID CARPET RINGS

Whenever using a mop pail be sure to place it upon a carpet mat or a number of thicknesses of newspapers. If you don't a ring may form on your carpet or rug and such rings are hard to get out. When working near long curtains, pin the curtains up and out of any danger.

Fifteenth Annual Event Scheduled

Four Afternoon Sessions Arranged by The Star and Marion Merchants Will Present the Latest Methods in Cooking and Household Management.

THE fifteenth annual Marion Star cooking school will open Tuesday with a fanfare of color and newness in kitchen equipment, the last word in the season's offering of modern service, cooking appliances and food preservation, and last, but far from least, "tops" in delicious and economical recipes. The school will close Friday. All sessions will be held in The Star auditorium.

And just because the sponsors, The Marion Star and a group of Marion merchants, do not want you housewives of Marion city and county and the adjoining communities to miss one single word of the cooking school, thye are reminding you that the 1940 school starts at 1:30 p. m., one-half hour earlier than previous years.

Mrs. V. Elsner Smith, food lecturer and home economics specialist, brought back as an instructor by special request, promises to give this year's cooking school top place in The Star's cooking school annals.

Mrs. Smith will be in her temporary kitchen promptly at 1:30 each day, and from then until the close of the lecture will demonstrate to her audience the many new and varied dishes listed on the recipe slips received at the door. Doors of the auditorium will open at 12:30 p. m. in order to give all an opportunity to inspect all the interesting exhibits and be in place when the school starts.

Everything Modern

And be sure to visit the exhibits which, judging from the interesting looking equipment which has been pouring into The Star auditorium for the last week, the 1940 models are something upon which to feast the eyes. At the booths throughout the day will be attendants ready to explain and answer all questions pertaining to their special line of equipment.

Every guest will want to jot down the steady stream of tips and shortcuts that will feature each lively session, so come equipped with notebooks and pencils. As in former schools printed recipe sheets will be distributed.

A question box will be a feature of each day's program and Mrs. Smith invites the busy housewife and the young bride to bring their menu problems to the cooking school for solution.

Inspection Invited

The women will again be invited to go to the stage at the close of the lecture and inspect the various dishes which have been prepared during the afternoon. Mrs. Smith invites questions in regard to her work and also urges the women to inspect carefully the equipment on the stage and on display in the main auditorium.

Brand new dishes, old dishes in new "dressings" and tried and true standbys will be brought before the audience by Mrs. Smith.

Menus which will fit in with the seasons, together with suggestions for "something different" in the way of buffet suppers, luncheons, holiday and birthday anniversaries all will be presented by her either in the main part of the afternoon or sandwiched in with the answers to questions asked by the "pupils."

No One Overlooked

Neither will the lunch basket be overlooked and Mrs. Smith will have on hand happy suggestions for the well-balanced meal for the youngster toddling off to school for the first time and also for the hearty mid-day meal for the head of the house.

Thrift in the selection and purchase of food for the family will be stressed by Mrs. Smith, and her recipes, while appetizing and attractive, will not send the budget skyward nor burden the housewife.

Although this is The Star's fifteenth cooking school Mrs. Smith is only the eighth instructor to come to Marion under sponsorship of this week's hosts. Her predecessors were Mrs. George Thurn, Mrs. Ruth Campbell, Mrs. Laura Lautz, Mrs. Edna M. Ferguson, Mrs. Crabtree, Mrs. Mary Brown Lewers and Mrs. Bertha M. Harris.

"I have been looking forward to

Home Courses Attract Many In City Schools

750 Girls and 16 Boys in Harding and Junior High Classes.

Some 750 girls are learning the mysteries of cookery and household management in the courses taught this year at the three Junior High schools and at Harding High school. In addition, 16 boys have their own cooking class at Vernon.

Miss Vetna Riley is in charge of some 114 girls at Harding school, Miss Mella Van Meter of Vernon Heights has the only boys' class in the city, Miss Mae Belle Amstutz guides the course of 227 girls at Thomas A. Edison Junior High school and at Central there are 305 girls instructed by Mrs. Lucile Simpson.

The Harding course offers home economics and related arts courses, developed in the following units: "History of Costume and Modern Adaptations"; "Points To Be Considered in Construction and Selection of Clothing"; "Textile Study and Testing of Materials"; "Pattern Study, Testing and Alteration"; "Construction of Cotton Project" (dress, sport togs, pajamas, house coat, blouse, skirt, etc.); "Christmas Gift Project"; "Construction of More Complicated Project," generally a wool suit or a remodeling project.

Projects Judged

At the conclusion of each construction unit three Marion women are invited to attend the classes to judge the projects according to appearance, suitability and finish. The purpose, Miss Riley explains, is to emphasize in the minds of the students points which must be considered in wise construction and selection of garments. The judges are carefully selected to represent three definite fields of the course of study, professional construction, retailing and personal consumption.

After completion of the cotton project, which is for the purpose of orientation, each girl is encouraged to complete as many projects as meets her needs and falls within the range of her ability.

Practical Subjects

Girls in the related arts course work on projects which are related to their present, or near-present needs. The projects are suggested by the girls and may include such study as: "How Can One Acquire a Pleasing Personality?"; "Vocational Study"; "How To Get a Job"; "Selecting and Decorating One's Room"; "Building, Remodeling and Decorating a Home on a Limited Budget"; "Care of a Home"; "Study of Family Development"; "Study of Problems Which Are Vital to Girls"; "Care of the Sick"; "Care and Study of Child Life"; "Manners"; "Use of One's Time and Money." The present project covers the subject, "What Should a Well Dressed Girl Wear on Various Occasions?"

At present a new club is being

Pockets Add Appeal To Housefrock for 1940; Zipper Models Gain Favor

Paris may have blackouts but it also has maintained its style influence—an influence, that is reaching out and into Marion's homes.

Housefrocks this spring feature the Schiaparelli pocket—a naive little girl stick-out pocket that gives a freshly laundered frock added perkiness.

Pockets are definitely a big item this year—as women who attend The Star's annual cooking school will see—and they're a utility item as well as a decorative touch. One model had pockets that were attractively laced up the center.

The newest in spring house frocks will be modeled at every session of the cooking school. The models will be Marion girls and the frocks will all come from the regular stocks of a Marion store.

Looking over the 1940 frocks there is a noticeable trend to full-length zippers, making it a matter of a jiffy to change from street dress into housefrock and prepare a meal.

A growing interest in smocking also prevails. The simplest of the frocks takes on added interest with clusters of smocking at the yoke and on the pockets.

The colors cover the hues of the rainbows. Bright plaids, checks and Paisley's vie with solid colors in chambrays.

Drop on cookie sheets. Put brown sugar and cinnamon on each one. Bake in moderate oven until light brown.

Chocolate Cake

Two c brown sugar, ½c butter, 2 eggs, 3 oz. unsweetened chocolate, 2c flour (sift and then measure), 1t soda, 1c milk, 1t vanilla.

Cream butter and sugar. Put in one egg and beat it. Then beat in another egg. Melt the chocolate in a double boiler. Then slowly add it into the creamy mixture. Stir ¼ flour and ¼ milk into the mixture and keep repeating the process until milk and flour are gone. Add the vanilla. Bake for 30 minutes in an oven 325 degrees.

Caramel Icing

Two c white sugar, 2c brown sugar, pinch of salt, 1c milk, 1T butter, 1t vanilla.

Mix the white and brown sugar, salt and milk. Boil until it reaches the soft-boiled stage. Beat until creamy and then add butter and vanilla, being careful not to beat it too long because it hardens very quickly.

Cocoa Drop Cookies

One and one-half c sugar, ⅔c melted butter, ½c cocoa, 1 egg, ⅔c sour milk, ½t soda, ¼t cream of tartar, 1c nut meats, 2t vanilla

Cream sugar, salt, cocoa and butter. Add egg and beat well. Dissolve soda and cream of tartar in sour milk and add nut meats and vanilla. Add enough flour to make proper consistency to drop from a teaspoon and retain shape. Bake in moderate oven.

Apple Crisp Pudding

Peel and core 6 or 8 apples, cut in slices of ¼ inch thick to make 4c of apples, 1t cinnamon, 7T butter, ½c water, 1c sugar, ¾c flour (pastry or cake).

Butter casserole. Add apples and pour over the water and cinnamon mixed. Work together sugar, flour and butter with finger tips until crumbly. Spread over the apple mixture and bake uncovered. Serve while warm with whipped cream.

Spice Cake

Two eggs, 2-3c milk, 1½c white sugar or 1¼c brown sugar, 1-3c fat, ¾t cinnamon, ¾t nutmeg, ¼t cloves, 2c flour, 2½t baking powder, ¼t salt. Add spices to the flour mixture.

Butterscotch Cookies

One c brown sugar, 1c white sugar, 1½c butter (or shortening), 1t vanilla, 4 eggs (or 3 eggs and 2T water), 1 small t soda, 2t cream of tartar, 5c flour (or enough to thicken.)

Apple Fritters

Two medium sized sour apples; 1 1-3c flour; 2t baking powder; ¼t salt; 2-3c milk; 1 egg; powdered sugar. Mix and sift dry ingredients, add milk gradually, and egg well beaten. To this batter add the apples which have been pared, cored and sliced. Drop by spoonsful and fry in deep fat. Sprinkle well with powdered sugar.

Glorified Gingerbread

Cream thoroughly 2T shortening and ½c sugar, add one beaten egg and ½c molasses. Sift together 1¾c sifted flour, 1t baking powder, ½t soda, ½t salt, 1t ginger, ½t cinnamon. Add to molasses mixture. When thoroughly mixed add ½c boiling water. Bake in moderate oven 375 degrees 20 to 25 minutes in greased individual cup cake tins or large loaf tin. Cool, cut in two layers, slice two or three ripe bananas and place banana slices and whipped cream or ice cream between and on top of layers. Serves 6 to 8

Shortcake

One and one-half c flour, 2T baking powder, 2T sugar, ½t salt, 3T butter, 2-3c milk. Sift together dry ingredients, cut in the butter with a knife. When butter is well blended cut in the liquid until a smooth dough is formed

White Flour Muffins

One-half t salt, 1c milk, 1 egg, 1T melted butter, 1½c flour, 2T sugar, 2t baking powder. Mix and bake by general rule, in hot oven. Add melted butter last

Plain Pie Crust

One c flour, ½t salt, 1-3c shortening, ¼c cold water. Makes one shell. For covered pie use 1½c flour, 1t salt, ½c shortening, about ⅓c cold water. Sift dry ingredients, cut in shortening, add water carefully using just enough to hold ingredients together. Roll out lightly, bake in oven at 450 degrees

White Cake

Three c sifted flour, 3t baking powder, ½t salt, ½c butter, 4 egg whites beaten stiff, 1½c sugar, ½c milk, ½c water, 1t vanilla. Sift flour and measure, add salt and baking powder and sift two times. Cream butter, add sugar, and cream thoroughly until very light and fluffy; add flour alternately with liquid, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add flavoring, fold in egg whites. Bake in two greased pans about 20 minutes. Milk may be substituted for the half cup of water if preferred

Apple Compote

Six apples, 1c sugar, 1c water, pinch of salt. Wash, pare and core the apples. In a granite or aluminum saucepan put the sugar, water and salt. Place the saucepan over a flame and heat until the mixture boils. Put the apples into the hot syrup. When the cooler apples are placed in the syrup the latter usually stops boiling. When the syrup again reaches the boiling point turn down the flame so that the syrup boils gently. Then cover the pan. When apples have cooked about 10 minutes stick with a fork. Yields 6 servings

WAYS TO GET YOUR VITAMINS IN WINTER

Canned and Quick-Frozen Foods Solve Problem.

Canned foods and those marvelous quick-frozen foods offset market supply difficulties in any part of the country.

Today we give you some remarkable recipes for quick-frozen foods. First comes something that will delight spinach fans and will make non-spinach eaters quite fond of the greens. It is made with one box (14 ounces) quick-frozen spinach, two cups boiling salted water, four tablespoons butter, three-fourths teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, one-half cup grated American cheese, five tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, one cup milk, three egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemon-colored, and three stiffly-beaten egg whites. Cook spinach in briskly boiling, salted water, five to 10 minutes, turning separate leaves; drain, chop and saute in butter about two minutes. Add seasonings, cheese, and mix well. Add tapioca to milk in top of double-boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water, bring to scalding point (allow three to five minutes) and cook five minutes, stirring frequently. Add spinach mixture and cool slightly while beating eggs. Add yolks and mix well. Fold in egg whites. Turn into greased baking dish, place dish in pan of hot water and bake in 350 degree F. oven 50 to 60 minutes, or until souffle is firm. Serve as an entree with creamed mushrooms or with cheese sauce or serve plain as a vegetable. Serves six to eight.

Curry of Haddock

Bakd Curry of Haddock is a grand dish any time, but especially nice in winter. Cut one package (16 ounces) quick-frozen fillet of haddock in one-inch cubes. Saute in four tablespoons butter until nearly done. Add one-half cup sliced onions and saute until onions are delicately browned. Place three-fourths cup cooked spaghetti in greased casserole, cover with fish and onions, then add another three-fourths cup spaghetti. Melt two tablespoons butter in saucepan. Add same amount flour, one teaspoon curry powder, teaspoon salt, and stir to a smooth paste. Add two cups milk gradually and cook until thickened, stirring all the time. Pour over contents of casserole and cover with one-half cup buttered bread crumbs. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in 375 degree F. oven 30 to 40 minutes. Serves six.

A lever pressed by the hand holding a bottle opens a new metal cap for milk-bottles that seals the bottles air tight when closed

Simple Dishes Made Tasty

There's always a place in the menu files for good, satisfying, simple dishes. Budget economy need not be synonymous with dull, uninteresting food. Simple foods can be delicious.

Tamale Pie is a grand dish and economical, for the main ingredient is a pound of beef, yet the amounts will yield eight servings. Pie is made with two cups boiling water, teaspoon salt, one-half cup cornmeal, one-fourth cup bran, two tablespoons fat, one finely-minced garlic clove, one pound ground beef, one tablespoon minced green pepper, two and one-half cups tomatoes, tablespoon chili powder, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and one-third cup grated cheese. To boiling salted water, add cornmeal and cook until thick. Add bran and cook in double boiler 20 to 30 minutes. Pour into shallow greased pan and cool. Melt fat; add garlic, cheese and green pepper. Brown slightly. Add remaining ingredients except cheese. Simmer for about 15 minutes or until juice from vegetables has partially evaporated. Line sides and bottom of greased casserole with strips of cool mush. Pour in meat mixture. Cover with grated cheese. Brown in 400 degree F. oven 10 minutes.

Creole Recipe

Jambalaya is a Creole hodgepodge that is tangy and toothsome. Here's a swell verson of it that takes care of leftover chicken, turkey or duck. Make it with a five-ounce jar of cocktail frankfurters, three tablespoons bacon fat or butter, one-half cup rice, washed and drained, two-thirds cup diced celery, one cup diced onions, two chicken boullion cubes, one and three-fourths cups water, one cup tomato juice, dash of black pepper, pinch of dried thyme, one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and one cup diced cooked chicken, turkey or duck. Saute the frankfurters in one tablespoon of the fat. Remove frankfurters. Add remaining fat and rice. Saute until browned, stirring constantly. Add celery and onions, and saute until lightly browned. Add bouillon cubes dissolved in boiling water, then remaining ingredients, except frankfurters and chicken. Simmer covered, without stirring, 20 minutes. Add chicken and frankfurters and mix lightly with a fork. Add more water if necessary and cook covered 10 minutes longer or until rice has absorbed liquid.

Scrappy Scrapple

Scrappy Scrapple is a grand dish. It is made with one onion, one carrot, one-half green pepper, one cup yellow cornmeal, tablespoon salt, three and one-half cups boiling water, one cup chopped peanuts, oil for frying. Mince onion, carrot and green pepper (medium sized one). Add cornmeal to salted boiling water slowly, stirring constantly until thick. Add minced vegetables. Cook over hot water for an hour, then add peanuts. Pour into oiled loaf pan, chill. When cold, slice and fry until brown. Serves six.

Frozen Coffee Cream is a simple dessert that is good enough to grace any party meal. Make it with three-fourths cup sugar, teaspoon cornstarch, three-fourths cup double-strength, freshly-made hot coffee, one cup heavy cream. Mix sugar and cornstarch; add hot coffee. Cook 20 minutes over hot water, stirring frequently. Cool. Whip cream and fold in. Pour into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator. Freeze, stirring occasionally.

SOME CONVENIENT TIPS ABOUT FOOD

The body needs iron every day and must have a new supply, since no extra iron is stored in the tissues. Foods should be chosen in such a way that they supply this important mineral automatically. Among the best sources of iron are liver, bran, molasses, beef, oysters, eggs, spinach, strawberries, and many other fruits and vegetables. Each contributes a small amount, again proving the importance of a varied diet.

One historian writes that Martha Washington's version of apple pie was made in a deep dish lined with rich pastry, the edge of which was crimped with the tines of a fork. Two egg yolks, one-half cup sugar and four grated tart apples were mixed together. One tablespoon melted butter, a pinch of salt and a dash of nutmeg were added. This filling was baked in the pastry until the crust was delicately golden. Then a meringue of egg whites and sugar was spread on top and browned lightly in a cool oven.

Store this nourishing sandwich spread in the refrigerator for the busy lunchbox rush: Grind a few stuffed olives, add two tablespoons walnut meats, blend with one-half pound creamed cottage cheese and mayonnaise to taste. Cottage cheese also combines well with left-over ham, after it has been finely ground and flavored with mustard.

Frosting Adds Charm and Flavor To Simplest Cake

The simplest cake assumes character and beauty when it is frosted. It adds charm and flavor. The knack of doing the frosting job nicely is a simple affair, but it takes knowledge of three types of frostings.

Butter frostings are uncooked and are easy and quick to make. These frostings are made by creaming butter, adding confectioner's sugar, egg white, and some liquid such as milk, cream or fruit juice, to make a soft creamy mixture that will spread. These frostings can be used for decorating, with a pastry tube, and are easy to use if bag or tube is filled only half full of frosting at a time.

Creamy cooked frostings, such as fudge or caramel, are cooked mixtures of sugar and liquid with some flavoring added. These frostings are made like fondant or fudge, and require the same careful attention to cooking temperature.

Fluffy Frostings

Fluffy frostings, such as boiled or seven-minute frostings, are made of a sugar syrup mixture and egg whites. Use a deep double boiler and an efficient double rotary egg beater. It will save time and effort. An electric beater that can be used in the double boiler is a great help.

To do a good frosting job, cool cakes thoroughly before frosting, and brush away all crumbs. In frosting a layer cake, spread frosting smoothly on one layer at a time. Frost the first layer, then put on the second layer, placing it so that the edges are even and the cake uniform in height. When frosting the outside of a cake, first smooth the frosting on the sides, spread it deftly over the top edge and down the sides in sweeping strokes. Pile the remaining frosting in the center top of the cake and spread lightly out to the edges.

Swirl the frosting attractively with the back of a spoon or with a spatula. Learn to work quickly and to make every stroke count.

Ornamental Frostings

Ornamental Butter Frosting is made with four tablespoons butter, five cups sifted confectioner's sugar, two unbeaten egg whites, about two tablespoons cream, one and one-half teaspoons vanilla and one-fourth teaspoon salt. This is an ideal frosting for a Bride's Cake. Cream butter; add part of sugar gradually, blending after each addition. Add remaining sugar, alternately with egg whites, then with cream, until of right consistency to spread. Add vanilla and salt. This makes enough frosting to cover 10-inch tube cake and to use for special decorating. Because of butter in this frosting, it remains beautifully creamy and moist.

Caramel Frosting is made with one and one-half cups firmly packed brown sugar, one and one-half cups granulated sugar, one and one-half cups milk and two tablespoons butter. Combine milk and sugar and bring to a boil, stirring the while. Then boil, without stirring, until a very small amount of the mixture forms a very soft ball in cold water (232° F.). Add butter, cool and beat until of right consistency to spread. If necessary, place over hot water to keep soft while spreading.

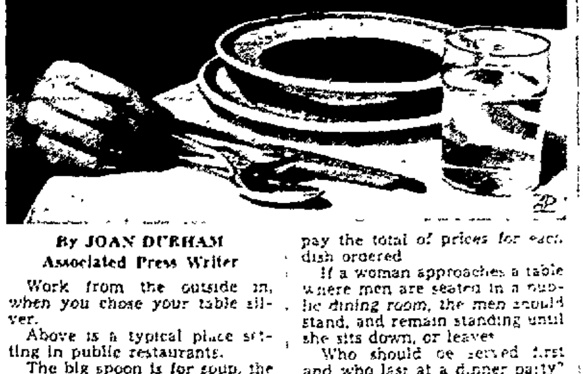
FOLLOW THIS PLAN FOR FISH IN REFRIGERATOR

Always lightly cover fish stored in the refrigerator to prevent its flavor from penetrating other foods. As soon as the fish is received, remove from its paper wrappings, wipe off with a damp cloth and place in a covered dish, or securely roll up in waxed paper. Store in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Left-over fish should also be tightly covered and stored in the coldest spot.

SUBTLE FLAVORING

To give salad dressing a subtle garlic flavor, soak a fourth-inch piece of garlic in a cupful of dressing for 15 minutes. Discard the garlic and serve the dressing over fish, fowl or meat salads

When You're Dining Out



By JOAN DURHAM
Associated Press Writer

The big spoon is for soup, the teaspoon for coffee served with the dinner. The silver-bladed knife may be for butter or for cutting a salad. The other knife is for the main course.

Restaurant dining rooms have two types of menus: table d'hote and a la carte. When you order from a table d'hote menu, the price of the main dish determines the price of your meal. When you order a la carte, you pay the total of prices for each dish ordered

If a woman approaches a table where men are seated in a public dining room, the men should stand, and remain standing until she sits down, or leaves

Who should be served first and who last at a dinner party? The hostess never is served first. The guest of honor should be served first, then service proceeds around the table, ending with the host or hostess

Tips at average-price restaurants should be about 10 per cent of the bill. At expensive restaurants or places in which you have had special service your tip should be 15 per cent or slightly higher.

Cake Recipes For Easter Weddings and Receptions

Easter Sunday this year will be March 24, and already there are requests for recipes of Easter wedding breakfast and reception menus.

Whether the occasion is small or elaborate, a wedding cake, a bride's cake and ice cream usually figure on the menu. For the hot dish, chicken a la king is most often the choice.

If the kitchen facilities permit it, one can make the wedding cake at home. Here is a recipe for a marvelous wedding cake, rich and aromatic. Ingredients include one cup each butter and brown sugar, six egg yolks, two teaspoons each cinnamon and allspice, one-half teaspoon each mace, nutmeg and cloves, two squares melted chocolate, one-fourth cup glycerine, one-half cup each molasses and fruit juices, one cup strawberry preserve, one pound each seedless raisins and seedless currants, one-third cup each candied orange peel, candided cherries and candied lemon peel, cut into small pieces; one cup each candied citron, cut into small pieces, and blanched almonds, broken; one-half cup each pecan nut meats and walnut meats both, broken, and six egg whites.

Cream the butter, add sugar gradually, creaming well. Beat egg yolks until thick and creamy, add to butter and sugar, blending well. Sift remaining dry ingredients together. Melt chocolate, add two tablespoons glycerine, while melting. Add chocolate to molasses, fruit juices and preserves. Rub fruit and nuts with remaining glycerine, coating well. To sugar mixture, add dry ingredients and liquid, alternately. Stir fruits and nuts into batter. Fold in egg whites, beaten stiff, but not dry, into batter. Bake in a tube pan for about four hours in a 250 degree oven

Bride's Cake is made with three and three-fourths cups sifted cake flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one and three-fourths cups butter, two cups sugar, one and one-fourth cups egg whites, unbeaten, one-half teaspoon vanilla and one-fourth teaspoon almond extract. Sift flour once, add baking powder, sift together three times. Cream butter well, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg whites, one-fourth cup at a time, beating about three minutes after each addition. Add flour, small amount at a time beating well after each addition. Add flavoring, beat vigorously. Turn into 10-inch tube pan which has been greased, lined on bottom sides and around tube with heavy paper and again greased. Bake in 275 degree F. oven one hour, then increase to 300 degrees F. and bake 50 minutes longer or until done.

Insert favors by wrapping each in waxed paper and pressing into small slits cut in cake. Spread smoothly with butter dressing on top and sides. Decorate with borders, festoons and rosettes of the frosting and trim with silver dragees. Serve on silver tray or platter surrounded with sprays of fern, freesias, cosmos or bridal wreath. Place special bride favor on top of cake, if desired, or tie small wedding bells or other favors to white ribbons and intertwine through sprays.

enough so that the prongs of the cups holding the fruit just touch. As the orange dries, it will shrink and when completely cured, no part of the skin will show.

"Be careful not to stick the cloves down a straight line, or hold the orange too tightly or the skin will split. Small splits will heal, however, in a few days. As the orange cures, it will grow lighter because the juice gradually seeps out and the pulp dries. For many centuries the great preservatives have been spices, so the cloves will prevent decay as the drying goes on.

"For variety in odor, powdered cinnamon or nutmeg, or a combination of both with powdered cloves, may be sifted over the orange when still freshly stuck with cloves and will cling to the juice adhering to the skin below the stems. If you do not like the powdery effect on the top of the cloves, simply wipe the ball with a damp cloth. In about ten days the orange will be dried out enough to handle."

Similar pomanders may be made with limes or lemons, as these fruits dry much sooner than orange. Since cloves are a preservative against moths, as well as decay, it is suggested that one be hung from a padded coat or suit hanger. Pierce the pomander with a non-corroding wire looped into a tiny circle at each end. Suspend by a ribbon.

HANG CLOTHING UP WITH CARE AND SAVE PRESSING

If clothing is hung up carefully, you will save a lot of pressing. Select your hangers with care. For most garments, the usual wire holder is satisfactory, but thin, dainty garments need wider hangers, covered with felt or velveteen to prevent tearing. To keep sheer clothes from slipping off, stick thumb tacks two inches from each end of a wooden or covered hanger. Often "best" dresses should be hung by straps attached to the waist band or the shoulders. Fasten the straps to covered hangers with small pins. Give each garment plenty of closet space and look in often to see that none falls down.

"DRESSED WEIGHT" FIGURES

"Dressed weight" in a fowl, when buying it at the store, means the weight of the fowl, picked but not drawn and with the head and feet on. This is the weight needed to calculate the cooking time and number of servings.

KITCHENS

There are frying pans, sauce pans of all shapes and sizes in the new glass. Many are so constructed that the handles can be removed and the food served directly from the pan. Others are adjustable to right and left-handed users.

Another fairly new device is the hollow glass rolling pin, which can be packed with crushed ice for cold-rolling delicate pastries.

For the lazier individuals there is an electric corn poper which requires not a shake.

Other Gadgets

And people who dote on piping hot biscuits will like the new electric biscuit maker which is designed to be placed right on the breakfast or dinner table so that the rolls can be baked while you eat.

Not as well known as it might be is the flour-sifter which sifts three times in one operation, eliminating tiresome work.

In addition to keeping an eye out for labor-saving, the manufacturers are more and more turning to the aesthetic side. Some of the ranges and refrigerators look almost pretty enough to put in the living room. Even the gadgets and utensils receive their share of careful designing.

TABLE SERVICE

silverware and explained that the two for which he had the least calls were the two which were most ornate.

One of the most apparent trends in plated silverware, dealers report, is toward service for eight in contrast to the sets of service for six or twelve popular until recent years. One of the leading local dealers, for example, carries virtually his entire line in services for eight.

Grille Type Popular

Another trend in plated silverware favors the new grille type knives and forks. Grille type knives have considerably longer handles and shorter blades while the forks have longer handles and shorter, narrower tines or prongs than the ordinary type. At one store about 90 per cent of the sales in plated silverware are of this type.

So far as sterling silverware is concerned, style is largely a matter of individual taste today as in previous years, dealers say.

Most sterling is designed in the style of a particular period such as the Georgian period or the American colonial period and often the style of furnishings in the home, or at least in the dining room, is taken into consideration when a pattern is selected.

Ornate, highly decorative patterns are still popular in sterling ware and there are several reasons for this, dealers point out. In the first place, owners of sterling frequently have a large number of formal dinners. Then, too, they are likely to select a pattern that will be as attractive several generations hence as it is today because usually it is handed down to children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. And another very practical reason, dealers explain, is that ornate designs make scratches in the soft metal less noticeable.

The One Place Setting

One of the newest and most popular ideas in sterling silver is single place setting — complete service for one place. Under this plan a few pieces can be purchased at a time and at the same time it is possible to use the silver that has been purchased. The single place setting generally consists of a knife, fork, salard fork, butter spreader and teaspoon with a dessert spoon optional.

Dealers report that many housewives, especially the younger and those preparing hope c are buying the single plac tings, starting with two o sets and gradually increasi service to 12.

Trends in glassware and

"The Old Oaken Bucket"

Almost everyone over ten years of age washes his or her hands several times a day. The usual process is to gather water into a bowl by turning on a faucet or tap, more scientifically described as a valve. Just when this useful adjunct to civilization came into being no one knows. Long before the Roman aqueducts, there is recorded historical evidence of the use of the principle involved in 4000 B. C. This particular method of hand washing has then a history of 6000 years, and clean, scrubbed hands are the heritage from the practice of two hundred generations of our ancestors.

But while the faucet has come down through the ages essentially unchanged, the flow of water to the faucet has faced and mastered many problems. Ever increasing urban populations, changing habits, contamination by industrial plants, have taxed the resources of the men responsible for supplying pure water to communities. Theirs has been the job of safeguarding public health—and the ever-decreasing death rate of diseases transported by impure water is a vital testimonial of how well they are performing their task.

"The Purity of Your Water"

By Mrs. V. Elsner Smith

The Purity of Water is determined by its bacterial count—taken in a daily analysis to test the content of the water. The lower the bacterial count—the purer the water. Marion is indeed fortunate to have a water supply so pure; and a plant so capably operated, that it's bacterial count is consistently lower than that of the majority of American cities.

At Vernon the home economics is varied according to pupil and interests. A half-year of food and clothing begins course in the seventh grade, by the same combination eighth grade. It is a re- subject for all seventh and grade girls. One year of is elective for ninth year Daily classes make it possible for the girls to study various phases of homemaking.

Course at Central

Seventh grade pupils at Central school are given an introduction to simple problems of clothing, foods, personal grooming and child care. They are taught to prepare a breakfast. Their sewing project is an attractive cooking apron made on both the tredle and electric type sewing machines.

Eighth grade foods study includes preparation of a luncheon and the planning, preparing and serving of simple meals and light refreshments. In clothing the girls learn to develop skill in manipulating commercial patterns and to make a grament of their own selection.

One period a day for two semesters, the girls in the ninth grade foods course study meal planning and preparation, in order that they may gain ability to plan, prepare and serve well-balanced breakfasts, luncheons and dinners.

The seventh and eighth grade girls have their home economics scheduled on the platoon system. They are divided into sections and are in class one period a day for six consecutive weeks. "I feel that this plan is very stimulating to the girls as it holds their interest to a greater degree," Mrs. Simpson said.

Because of the heavy enrollment at Central home economics cannot be offered to boys, Mrs. Simpson said. During the extra-curricular activities period there are two ninth grade home economics clubs in which the girls can pursue any phase of home economics, knitting, crocheting, embroidering, basket weaving, refinishing of furniture, scrapbook making, quilting, etc. The ninth grade girls assist during the school year with dinners and social functions given by the school.

Here are a few recipes used in the public school cooking classes:

Popovers

One c flour, 1t salt, 2 eggs, 1c milk, 1T butter or margarine melted or salad oil.

Method: Sift flour, measure, add salt and sift again. Beat eggs until light and thick. Add flour and one-third of milk, continue to beat slowly until all flour is moistened, about 30 seconds. Add remaining milk and liquid fat gradually beaten until mixture is free from lumps, one to two minutes. Pour, filling greased baking cups a little less than half full. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F) about 40 minutes. Makes 8 popovers. Use rotary beater or electric mixer throughout.

Date and Nut Pudding

One c dates; 1c English walnuts, 1c brown sugar; 2 eggs; 1T cornstarch, ½c flour and 1t baking powder, sifted together: ¼t salt. Method: Beat eggs until light. Add brown sugar gradually, add dry ingredients, add dates and nuts which have been cut or chopped.

Peanut Butter Cookies

One c peanut butter; ⅞c shortening; 1c white sugar; 1c brown sugar; 3c flour, 2t soda and 1t salt, sifted together. Method: Cream shortening, add peanut butter and cream together well. Add white sugar, then brown sugar gradually. Add dry ingredients, make into round ball and flatten with fork.

Orange-Nut Bread

Two c family flour; ¼t salt; 2t baking powder; 1t soda; ½c sugar; 1 large orange; 2T fat; 1t vanilla; 1 egg; ½c chopped nuts; about 1c chopped dates or raisins. Method: Sift dry ingredients, except sugar, together. Wash orange and extract juice, put into cup and fill cup with boiling water. Put orange rind through food chopper, then into a cup, adding chopped raisins or dates to fill the cup. Place fruit in bowl; add juice and boiling water, add fat, sugar and vanilla. Stir until well blended, then add beaten egg and dry ingredients. Stir until well mixed, then add nuts. Pour into greased loaf pan and bake in moderate oven, 350 F. for from 50 to 60 minutes. Cool in pan before slicing.

Clear Tomato Soup

Two c canned tomatoes, ½ onion sliced, 1t sugar, 1 whole clove, ½ bay leaf, 1T flour, 2T butter, seasoning. Method: Put canned tomatoes in saucepan with flavorings. Boil for 10 minutes. Put through sieve. Make roux of butter and flour. Put roux in with tomato liquid. Stir and cook for two minutes. Season to taste. Serve with croutons or crisp crackers.

Apple Rings (Glazed)

One c granulated sugar, 1c water, 1 lemon, 1 orange (grated rind and juice of both). Method: Cook sugar and water eight minutes, cool. Slice Johanthan apples ½ inch thick. Add juice and grated rind to syrup and bring to boiling. Drop in rings to cover bottom of pan and boil until tender.

Cheese Souffle

Melt 4T butter or margarine, blend in 4T flour, add gradually and cook until thickened. 1c milk, combine with 1c grated American cheese, 1t salt, ¼t white pepper. Beat until they stand in peaks 4 egg whites. Beat until thick and lemon colored 4 egg yolks. To the egg yolks, add the cheese mixture and carefully fold into beaten egg whites. Turn into well buttered 8 inch casserole. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F. about 45 minutes. Serves for our five.

White Frosting

One c sugar; 1-3 c water; 1t vinegar; 2 egg whites; 1t vanilla. Boil sugar, water, vinegar to a soft ball, 236 F. Beat egg whites. Pour syrup into egg whites slowly, stirring constantly and add vanilla.

Carrot Nut Loaf

Measure 1½c soft bread crumbs and place in a mixing bowl. Cover with 1½c milk. When crumbs are well soaked stir in 3 unbeaten eggs, 1½t of salt, ¼t of pepper and 1½T of melted butter. Fold into the mixture 1½c of cooked peas, 1½c cooked carrots, chopped, 1c nut meats chopped, and ¼c of onion finely minced. After these ingredients have been folded into the first mixture place in a well-greased loaf pan and bake 1 hour and 10 minute at 350 F. Serve with mushroom sauce.

Philadelphia Cream Cheese Frosting

Melt a package of cream cheese in a double boiler. Thicken with powdered sugar, add flavering desired.

Cup Cakes

Makes 12

One-half c butter, 1c sugar, 2 eggs, 2c cake flour, 2t baking powder, ½t salt, ½c milk, 1t vanilla.

Sift flour and measure. Cream butter and sugar. Beat in eggs. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Add vanilla. Pour into greased muffin pans. Bake in a preheated oven at 375 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes.

French Toast

Dip bread in a mixture of egg and milk. Use 1 egg to ½c milk seasoned with sugar and salt. Fry in deep fat 380 degrees until brown.

A Fruit Dessert

Turn a can of crushed pineapple into the refrigerator tray, freeze it to a slush and serve with sliced bananas in sherbet glasses.

Layer Salad

First, use a ring of pineapple, then a layer of cottage cheese mixed with minced parsley and mayonnaise, then a slice of tomato, then chicken salad toppet with a radish rose or a ripe olive.

Banana Delight

Three large bananas, ½c powdered sugar, 2T lemon juice, 2 egg whites, 1c cream, whipped, 1½t vanilla, 1c chopped nuts

Mash bananas to a pulp. Add sugar and lemon juice. Chill whipped cream and add with vanilla and nuts to the first mixture. Beat egg whites stiff and fold into mixture. Freeze 2 to 3 hours.

Ham and Potato Patties

Three c ground cooked ham, 1c left over mashed potatoes; ¼t pepper; 1 egg, unbeaten; 1T minced onion; 1T minced green pepper. Combine ham and potatoes, add remaining ingredients. Shape into flat round cakes and dip in flour. Brown quickly in a well greased skillet.

Recipes Used by Rural School Pupils

Then she will try a few simple recipes and gradually try her hand at more difficult "assignments" as she becomes familiar with the work.

At various intervals during the course of the project, her work will be checked by the instructor.

As a part of some projects, the students plan meals, prepare them and entertain groups of friends. Whenever possible, the home economics work is linked up with social science and other school work. For example, the students at Pleasant township school are giving a series of "Nationality Breakfasts"—one at which English food is served, another with an Italian menu, etc. In this way the groups not only learn to prepare a wide variety of foods but also learn something about the customs of various nations.

While necessarily on a smaller scale, learning by doing also is the educational doctrine underlying the home economics courses offered by the other schools in the county.

Classroom Work

The courses at these schools usually cover a period of either two or three years with only a minimum of home project work. The classroom instruction varies at the different schools but in general the students study sewing and personal grooming one semester and cooking and child care the following semester. Some instruction in home decoration also is offered at several schools.

Students at these schools also prepare and serve breakfasts and luncheons for small groups of friends, starting at the beginning of the year with simple menus and then arranging more elaborate meals when they become more expert.

Virtually all of the schools also offer elementary home economics courses to students in the seventh and eighth grades.

Following are the home economics instructors at the various schools and the number of high school students enrolled in their classes:

Pleasant township, Miss Gladys Uncapher, 30 girls and 10 boys; Prospect, Miss LaVina Niedhart, 34; LaRue, Miss Virginia Drake, 32; Claridon, Miss Winifred Kiester, 12; Caledonia, Miss Dorothy Poling, 12; Green Camp, Miss Wilma Patterson, 26; Meeker, Miss Helen Thutt, 15; Morral, Miss Gwendolyn Wagner, 11; Agosta, Miss Grace Hershberger, 28; Kirkpatrick, Miss Marelle Allen, 12; Martel, Miss Evelyn Ruckman, 12; Waldo, Mrs. Frances Kraner Strine, 25.

Here are recipes used in cooking classes in some of the county schools:

Morral School

Miss Gwendolyn Wagner,
Instructor.

Apples Marie

Six medium apples, 1c flour, ½t cinnamon, 1c brown sugar, ½c butter, seedless raisins, nuts and cream.

Pare and core apples. Draw tines of fork in a path around and around the entire surface of the apples. Mix flour, cinnamon and butter and sugar together until well blended. Press some of this mixture firmly on each apple and fill those paths made by the fork tines so as to cover the apples completely with the mixture. Place the apples in a shallow greased pan; fill centers with nuts and raisins. Bake in oven at 350. Serve warm or cold with cream or whipped cream if desired. Time—one hour.

Date-Loaf Candy

Two c white sugar, 2T syrup, 2-3c milk, 1c dates, 1c English walnuts.

Cook until forms quite a soft ball when a bit is dropped into cold water. Have ready 1c dates cut in small pieces, also 1c nuts chopped. Take syrup from stove. While hot, add dates and stir a few minutes, add nuts. Wring out cloth from cold water. Pour candy in roll and shape. Roll up in damp cloth and let ripen for a couple of days.

Peanut Clusters

One-half lb. sweet chocolate, ½c sweetened condensed milk, 1c peanuts.

Melt chocolate, cut in small pieces in top of double boiler. Remove from fire, add condensed milk and peanuts. Stir until mixture thickens. Then hurriedly drop by teaspoonsful onto buttered sheet or oilcloth. Chill slightly.

Chocolate Waffles

One and one-half c flour, 3t baking powder, ½t salt, 1-3c sugar, 6T cocoa, 3 eggs, 1c milk, 4T melted butter, (1 sq. sweet chocolate), (ice cream).

Sift together all dry ingredients. Beat egg yolks, add milk and butter. Combine dry and liquid ingredients. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron about 5 minutes. Use same. Serve the waffles with ice cream, over which then sprinkle the square of cholocate which has been shaved with a knife.

Prize Fudge

(Very creamy)

Two c white sugar, 3T cocoa, 3T syrup, 1c cream.

Cook all ingredients together until it reaches the soft ball stage. Remove from fire and let cool to lukewarm. Then stir until it loses its gloss. Pour into buttered pan. Mark before it is set away to cool entirely. (Do not stir at all while cooking after it once starts to boil).

LOLLYPOPS

Two c white sugar, 2-3c syrup, 1c water, few drops peppermint oil, coloring matter.

Put sugar, syrup and water into saucepan and cook, stirring only until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking without stirring until it reaches 310. During cooking, wash sides down on the pan with a wet cloth to remove crystals. The last 20 degrees of cooking should be done more slowly. When done, remove from fire, add coloring and flavoring very quickly. Stir a trifle. Work fast. Drop from tip of a teaspoon onto a greased very flat surface. The lollypops will assume a nice round shape. While still hot just after they have been poured into shape, have another person stick toothpicks into them lying flat.

Makroner

(Use with cookie press)

Cream 1 lb. butter, then continue to cream the butter while gradually sifting into it 1 lb. sugar; then one at a time, add 4 unbeaten eggs, not separated, and mix well after the addition of each egg; add 1t vanilla and mix well. Add 1½ lbs. flour, making a smooth dough. Put into cookie press and force into fancy shapes on an ungreased cookie sheet; bake 8 to 12 minutes in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) until firm and lightly browned. This recipe makes 16 dozen small Danish butter cookies called Makroner.

Date Marshmallow Roll

One and one-half c graham cracker crumbs, 1c dates cut in eighths with wet scissors, 1T orange juice, ¼t salt, 6 marshmallows cut in pieces with scissors, ½c nut meats, chopped, ½c cream, whipped.

Pour orange juice over dates; add salt. Fold dates, nuts and marshmallows into cream. Fold in crumbs, reserving about 1T. Sprinkle unused crumbs on a sheet of heavy wax paper or wrapping paper brushed with melted butter. Turn date mixture onto paper and shape into long roll about 3 inches in diameter. Roll in the paper and place in refrigerator for at least 12 hours. Cut in ½ inch slices and serve with whipped cream.

Date and Nut Torte

Four egg yolks beaten slightly, 1c sugar, ¼c cracker crumbs, 1t baking powder, ½c walnuts cut in small pieces, 1c pitted dates, 4 egg whites beaten stiff.

Mix in order given. Blend thoroughly, folding in egg whites last. Bake 30 minutes in slow oven (300 degrees F.)

Nut Bars

Two T brown sugar, ½c butter, ¼c boiling water, ½c brown sugar, ½c flour, ⅛t salt, 2T English walnut meats finely chopped, halves of walnuts or almonds.

Caramelize 2T sugar, add butter and water and boil 2 minutes. Remove from fire, add remaining sugar, flour mixed with salt, and walnut meats. Spread on buttered cookie sheet, crease in 2-inch squares and decorate with nut meats. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) and remove from pan at once.

Swedish Nut Wafers

One-fourth c shortening, ¾c sugar, 1 egg well beaten, 1 1-3c flour, 2T milk, 1t baking powder, 1t vanilla, ¼t salt, 1-3c chopped nut meats.

Cream shortening (using butter and lard or other cooking fat in equal proportions), add sugar gradually, while beating constantly; egg, milk, flour mixed and sifted with baking powder and salt, and vanilla. Spread evenly on bottom of buttered inverted bread pan, using case knife; sprinkle with nut meats and mark in strips ¾ by 4½ inches. Bake 12 minutes in moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) Cut in strips and shape over a rolling pin. If strips become too brittle to shape, return to oven to reheat and soften.

Kornettes

Three-fourths c finely chopped popped corn, ¾T soft butter (not melted), 1 egg white, ¼t salt, ½t vanilla, chopped almonds, candied cherries, 1-3c sugar.

Beat egg whites until stiff, add sugar gradually, continuing beating, then add butter, salt and vanilla. Fold in corn. Drop mixture from tip of spoon on well-buttered cookie sheet, 1 inch apart. Sprinkle with almonds and place a piece of candied cherry on center of each. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) until delicately browned.

Waldo School

Mrs. Frances Strine, Teacher.

Gingerbread

One egg, ½c granulated sugar, ½c molasses, 1c sour milk, ½c fat, 2c soft wheat or pastry flour, ¾t baking soda, ½t salt, ¾t ginger, 1t cinnamon, ½t nutmeg, 2t baking powder.

Sift some flour, then measure it. Add the leavening and spices. In a mixing bowl, beat the egg. Add sugar, molasses and sour milk and mix well. Melt the fat, add it to the egg mixture. Add the dry ingredients to the egg mixture, passing them through a sifter while adding them. Beat until all ingredients are well mixed. Pour into a greased pan. A 9-inch pan is suitable for this recipe. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F. from 35 to 40 minutes or until the cake is sufficiently baked. Serving Gingerbread—The flavor of gingerbread goes well with that of apples. A dish of hot applesauce or a baked apple with a piece of gingerbread makes a wholesome dessert. Whipped cream is good with gingerbread. A piece of fresh gingerbread with a spoonful of whipped cream on top of it makes a dessert that is pleasing both in appearance and taste.

Washington Salad

Three-fourths c chopped celery, ¾c bottoms of artichokes, chopped, ¾c canned cherries, ¾c diced grapefruit pulp, cheese straws.

Pile cheese straws in log-cabin style on a large plate, leaving a center space sufficient to hold the salad. Mix celery, artichokes, cherries and grapefruit pulp with French dressing and decorate with a large spoon of mayonnaise. Serve two cheese straws with each portion of salad.

Rice Pudding

Two eggs, 2c milk, ½c raisins, ¼t cinnamon or nutmeg, 1¼c cooked rice, ¼t salt, ½c sugar, 1T powdered sugar.

Separate the whites and yolks of the eggs, add to the yolks 2T milk and place the rest of the milk on the fire in a double boiler. Wash the raisins, put them in the milk and cook until soft (about 15 minutes). Add the rice, cook 5 minutes longer, then stir in the yolks of the eggs and the salt, sugar and spice. Stir well, cook for 2 or 3 minutes, remove from the fire and pour the pudding into the serving-dish. Beat the whites of the eggs light, add sugar, spread the meringue on top of the pudding and brown delicately in the oven. Serve cold.

Cheese Croquettes

One-half c soft cheese, 2T fat, 2T flour, ½c milk, 2 egg yolks, 1 egg white, ¼t salt, ¼t paprika, crumbs.

Make a white sauce, using the fat, flour and milk. Add the slightly beaten egg yolk, the cheese cut in small bits, and the seasonings. Stir until the cheese is melted. Allow the mixture to cool, then shape, roll in crumbs, then in the egg white, which has been diluted with 1T water, then in crumbs again and fry in deep fat.

Prune Whip

One envelope gelatine, ¼c cold water, ¾c hot prune juice, 1c cooked prune pulp, 2T lemon juice, ½c sugar, 2 egg whites, ½c nuts, chopped, ¼t salt.

Soften gelatine in cold water. Add sugar, salt and hot prune juice and stir until dissolved. Add prune pulp and lemon juice. Cool, and when mixture begins to thicken, fold in stiffly beaten egg wihtes. Turn into mold that has been rinsed in cold water or into sherbet glasses. When firm, unmold and sprinkle with chopped nuts. Serve with or without whipped cream. (Six servings).

Martel School

Miss Evelyn Ruckman, Teacher

Date Graham Tapioca

Three c milk, 2T minute tapioca, ½c sugar, ¼t salt, 10 graham crackers, 1c dates (cut), 1t vanilla, 1 egg.

Scald the milk in a double boiler. Stir in the tapioca, sugar, salt, and rolled graham crackers. Cook for 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Remove from stove; add dates and vanilla, cool slightly; add the slightly beaten egg. Pour the mixture into a buttered baking dish, and bake in a moderate oven

Baked Apples and Cheese

Three c sliced apples, 3c soft bread crumbs, ¾c cheese, ½c brown sugar, ½t cinnamon, ⅛t salt, 2T butter, 1c pineapple juice.

Put alternate layers of sliced apples, bread crumbs, and cheese in a buttered baking dish. Blend dry ingredients and sprinkle over top. Dot with butter and pour pineapple juice over top. Bake in a moderate oven for 1 hour.

Baked Ham

One whole or half ham, mustard, 1c brown sugar, whole cloves.

Scrub ham, place it fat side up in an open roasting pan. Bake in a slow oven, 300 degrees F. Forty-five minutes before the ham is done, remove it from the oven and carefully take off the rind, with the exception of that around the shank bone. Rub a little dry or prepared mustard over the fat then score it diagonally to form diamond shapes. Mix the sugar with a little dripping fat and spread over the ham. Stick whole cloves into the center of the diamonds and return the ham to the oven to finish baking. During the last 10 minutes increase the heat to form a brown crust.

Sausage Patties with Vegetable Sauce

One and one-fourth lb. sausage, ½c green pepper (chopped), 1c onion (chopped), ½c celery (diced), 1 can tomatoes, ½c cheese, 1½t salt.

Simmer pepper, onions, celery, tomatoes, and salt for 45 minutes. Then stir in cheese. Shape meat into patties and brown. Pour sauce over meat.

Beef a'la Mode

Four pounds rump of beef, drippings, 5 or 6 sliced onions, 3c boiling water, ¾c vinegar, salt and pepper, few bits of stick cinnamon, 2T brown sugar, 2T caramelized sugar, 2T whole cloves, 3T flour.

Brown the meat in hot drippings in heavy kettle. Add onions and boiling water, cover; and after simmering 1 hour add the rest of the ingredients, except flour, and simmer 3 hours. Add more water, if needed to keep it from cooking dry. Thicken the gravy with the flour mixed with a little cold water. Serve with horseradish mayonnaise sauce.

Horseradish Mayonnaise Sauce

Four T prepared horseradish, ½c whipped cream, 3T mayonnaise.

Blend ingredients together. Fill small paper cups with sauce and serve with the beef.

Date and Nut Cookies

Three-fourths c shortening, 1c brown sugar, 2½c flour, 2 eggs, 1c dates (cut), 1c nut meats, 1t vanilla, 1t baking powder, ½t soda dissolved in 1T water, ½t salt.

Cream shortening and sugar, add vanilla and well beaten eggs, also dissolved soda. Add sifted flour, baking powder, and salt, then add floured dates and nuts, drop by small spoonfuls on a greased tin. Bake in a moderate oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Devil's Food Cake

One-half c shortening, ½t salt, 1t vanilla, 1t soda, 1¼c sugar, 2 eggs, unbeaten, ½c cocoa, 1¾c flour, 1c milk.

Mix and sift cocoa with ½c of the sugar. Add scalded milk gradually, and stir until smooth.

Combine shortening, salt, vanilla, and soda. Add remainder of sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add small amount of flour with milk, beating after each addition until smooth. Pour batter into two deep 9-inch layer pans.

Pleasant Twp. School

Miss Gladys Uncapher, Instructor,

Rolled Flank Steak

One flank steak (1½ to 2 lbs.) Score across the grain with a sharp knife. Rub with flour and brown on both sides in hot fat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Spread one side with a dressing or make a pocket for it by splitting flank through the middle. Roll and tie. Place in a casserole and add ¼c boiling water. Cover. Bake in a moderate or 350 degree oven until tender. This will probably take 2 hours. Slice and serve with gravy made from liquid around steak.

Stuffing

One c cracker crumbs, add ½ to ¾c hot water with ½c melted butter in it. Add salt and sage to taste and mix well. One onion, cut fine, improves the flavor.

Rice Supreme

One c cooked rice, 1c left over meat or ½ lb. hamburg, 1c gravy or 1c tomato soup and 1 green pepper, chopped fine, 1 small onion, chopped fine. Season with salt, pepper and a pinch of poultry dressing if desired. Let simmer until meat is cooked well or put into a baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate or 350 degree oven for one-half hour. (Serves six).

Grilled Hamburgers

Grind together twice ¾ lbs. beef and ¼ lb. pork. Add 1T lemon juice, 2T chopped onion, 1t salt, ⅛t pepper, 1 beaten egg, ½c evaporated milk. Mix thoroughly. Form into flat cakes, wrap with strip of bacon, secure with toothpicks. Grill until done.

Meat Loaf

One lb. ground beef, 1 lb. ground pork, 2 eggs, 1 onion finely chopped, 1c bread crumbs, 1T salt, 1c milk, ¼t pepper.

Mix all ingredients together and form into a loaf; place in a loaf pan. Pour over it ⅔ of a small can of undiluted tomato soup. For decoration add slices of green pepper. Time—1½ hours at 375 degrees.

Cream Scones

Two c flour, 4t baking powder, 2t sugar, ½t salt, 4T butter, 2 eggs, 1-3c cream or milk.

Mix and sift flour, baking powonder, salt and sugar. Cut in cold butter. Add cream and well beaten eggs (reserving a small amount of unbeaten whites), toss on floured board, pat and roll ¾ inch thick. Cut in squares or triangles, brush with reserved egg whites diluted with 1t water and sprinkle with sugar. Preheat griddle, grease, place scones on griddle and bake 15 minutes, turning when browned on underside.

Coffee Cake

Two c flour, ¼c sugar, ½t salt, 2T shortening, 2t cinnamon, 4t baking powder, 1c milk, ¼c water, 4t sugar, 1 egg.

Mix and sift the dry ingredients, beat egg until light and add diluted milk and melted shortening, add to first mixture and beat well. Turn into a greased pan, sprinkle the top with mixture of cinnamon and sugar and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 25 minutes.

Banana Bread

KRESGE'S

"I have long since learned that it pays to buy Kresge hosiery"

Says Mrs. V. Elsner Smith

"After shopping around and trying one type of hosiery after the other I have discovered that Kresge hosiery is positively the best buy at the price. I believe most Marion women know that because Kresge's sell more hosiery than any other store here. You'll enjoy the girls modeling Kresge hosiery at the Cooking School—and I'm sure a visit to Kresge's store will convince you that Kresge hosiery is the best buy at the price!"

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, Feb 27

A day in which the spirit and stamina will be tested through oppositions and obstacles in the omen based upon the lunar and mutual aspects. There may be stubborn situations to be met with determination and resourcefulness. It is probable that the co-operation of employers or those in power may be counted on. But the front to cope with is subtle, deep-rooted and crafty, and calls for strategem or tact, not impetuosity and force. Romance figures.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a year of stubborn obstacles and subtle oppositions, which may be successfully maneuvered with [illegible] rather than aggressive and passionate [illegible] those of influence [illegible] found a fling to [illegible] ment and [illegible] constructive programs are assured promotion [illegible]. In purely personal relations there may be a [illegible] of romance.

A child born on this day may be energetic, skillful, resourceful and persistent, winning advancement or aid of superiors by its dependable qualities. But it may be subtle and at times passionate and jealous.

Daily Pattern for Home Use

SLIM BECOMING JACKET-DRESS

PATTERN 4366

A smart modern matron wants a frock that concentrates on good line and youthful style rather than on intricate detail. That's why Anne Adams Pattern 4366 is so right for the thirty-four-to-forty-eight size range. It's slimly flattering with a front yoke coming in one piece from the back to hold in the bodice fullness. The skirt, which has just enough flare for grace, is in three easy pieces. Trim the V-neck with a stunning notched collar made in self-fabric or in crisp contrast, and you might add neat tie ends and a soft edging of lace. Don't forget the long or short-sleeved jacket—straight, softly tailored and becoming for spring street wear.

Pattern 4366 is available in women's sizes 34 36 38 40 42 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 dress takes 3½ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, number, address and style number.

Capture spring enchantment with a wardrobe selected from our Anne Adams spring pattern book. It interprets the gay and lovely new styles in colorful clothes for tots, 'teens and twenties ... slim-line dresses for the business girl ... smart frocks for the woman-past forty ... an exquisite costume for the bride and appealing new fashions in prints and cottons ... all available in easy-to-sew patterns. Book fifteen cents. Pattern fifteen cents. Book and pattern together, twenty-five cents.
